

NEW SILVER MEASURE.

White Metal Republican Senators Encouraged.

MAY TRY STRONGER RESOLUTION.

Success of Teller Proposition Likely to Result in a Direct Blow at Gold. House Republicans Will Kill Colorado Senator's Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The bimetallic Republican senators are still discussing the advisability of renewing the financial agitation in the senate by the introduction of some measure of their own, though they do not seem quite so intent upon this course as they appeared to be immediately succeeding the vote upon the Teller resolution. If they present a resolution it probably will be a declaration to the effect that the United States is not committed to the gold standard.

It is the intention of the house leaders to offset as far as possible the action of the senate in passing the Teller resolution by killing that declaration of the sense of congress regarding the payment of the government's coin bonds in silver on an aye and nay vote in the house this week.

While the full Republican strength in the house cannot be commanded against the resolution, no doubt is expressed by those who have made it their business to canvass the situation that the majority against it will be decisive. As soon as the resolution is reported back from the ways and means committee, which may be today, the rules committee will bring in a special order for its consideration. The time allowed for debate is likely to be brief, as the leaders do not believe there is any necessity for protracted debate and, moreover, a long discussion would measurably decrease the very purpose they have in view, namely, a prompt and decisive negative reply to the senate's declaration.

DELAYING HAWAIIAN TREATY.

Friends of the Measure Afraid to Bring It to a Vote.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—It seems quite improbable that the Hawaiian treaty will receive much attention, at least in executive session, during the week. Still Senator Davis, chairman of the foreign relations committee, announced it to be his purpose to move an executive session for the consideration of the treaty today, but it is possible that he may be influenced by pressure from senators who have other measures requiring immediate attention to postpone this motion for a few days. He does not, however, admit such a probability. There is a growing impression that the friends of the treaty feel that their safest course is in delay, and this is the explanation of the tactics so far observed with reference to it. There is excellent foundation for this surmise.

They have made a very thorough canvass of the senate and have not been able to discover where they can get more than 58 votes, whereas to ratify the treaty they will have to have 60. They feel that even some of those 58 are not entirely reliable. In view of these circumstances they realize that nothing is to be lost by an informal postponement, especially when it comes naturally through the pressure of other business, and some of them believe that everything is to be gained by that course.

Senator Pettigrew's determination to discuss the Hawaiian question in open session will have a tendency to take the direction of the ratification resolution out of the hands of the foreign relations committee and it may prove to be the opening wedge to a discussion of the whole subject in open session of the senate. His resolution declares it to be contrary to the traditions of this country to acquire any territory so situated as to require a navy to protect it. This is a basis broad enough for the discussion of the whole subject, and it is understood to be Mr. Pettigrew's intention to enter very fully into the question of the condition of affairs in Hawaii.

He will deal with Mr. Dole's visit and will undertake to show that that gentleman was never elected president, that the constitution of the present government of Hawaii was never submitted to the people of that country and that in fact the whole government is irregular. It is possible that objection may be made to discussing such subjects in open session, in view of the pendency of the treaty, and Mr. Pettigrew may not be allowed to proceed except behind closed doors.

AN EXPENSIVE SON-IN-LAW.

Got Away With Over $100,000 of His Father-in-Law's Money.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Moses Rosenstock has been arraigned in the Center street police court on the complaint of his father-in-law, David Wilfson of Baltimore, as a fugitive from justice. He was held pending the arrival of requisition papers from Baltimore.

Mr. Wilfson, the complainant, is the senior member of the millionaire furniture manufacturing firm of David Wilfson & Son, Baltimore.

Thirteen years ago, according to the story told by Mr. Wilfson in court, Rosenstock was compelled, through his gambling debts and entanglements, to leave Germany. He came to this country, and, after a short residence in Baltimore, married Mr. Wilfson's daughter, despite her father's opposition. Soon after that Rosenstock was given an important position with his father-in-law's firm. It finally came to light that he had stolen $20,000. The matter was settled for a time by Rosenstock's accepting a few hundred dollars and leaving town. He left his wife and five children behind. An expert was put to work on his books and, Mr. Wilfson states, discovered that Rosenstock was $30,000 short in his accounts. This was in 1896. Besides this, he had spent $75,000.

For a year and more detectives scoured the country for Rosenstock. He went, they learned, to Philadelphia, and after being in the employ of a firm there for a few months, disappeared, having defaulted in a small sum. Later he went to Pittsburgh, and, according to the story, practically did the same thing over again.

SHANE MAKES A DENIAL.

Says He Never Conferred With McKinley on the Ohio Situation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—C. C. Shane has denied that he was interested in Senator Hanna's recent election in Ohio any more than any other Republican. He declared that he only knew General Boyce as a customer. Representative Otis testified before the Ohio senatorial investigating committee that H. H. Boyce had given $1,750 for a vote for Senator Hanna; that he had represented himself as a friend of C. C. Shane, and that he had said that Mr. Shane was about to have a conference with President McKinley relative to the situation in Ohio.

Mr. Shane said that he had never had a conference with the president in regard to the situation in Ohio, and that no such conference was ever contemplated.

PRINCETON BOYS MISJUDGED

President Patton Defends, Yet Admonishes, and Warns Against Liquor.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 31.—A few days ago President Francis L. Patton announced that he would address the undergraduate body Sunday on the subject of temperance. As a consequence Marquand chapel was crowded. In the audience were several signers of the Princeton Inn license, among them Grover Cleveland, Prof. Charles Woodruff Shields, whose resignation from the Presbyterian church was caused by criticism growing out of his signing the petition, and Prof. Charles Greene Rockwood. Dr. Patton said:

"At their meeting in October the attention of our trustees was turned to the recent agitation which has so seriously involved the good name of Princeton university. A committee was appointed to consider the whole subject and report at a subsequent meeting of the trustees. That report was presented and adopted at the meeting held on the Dec. 23. It was resolved that a strict literal and impartial enforcement of the existing law respecting intoxicating drinks be enjoined upon the faculty, and that the president of the university be asked to make a statement to the students on the whole question.

FRANCIS LANDEY PATTON.

He Says Princeton Students Are Misjudged and Misunderstood.

"I bear testimony to the high moral tone of the students of this university."

Then he declared that the boisterous outbursts of exuberance, etc., on the part of the students was often misunderstood to be produced by drunkenness, when it was false. The students were many times misjudged. He said the tendency in Princeton was toward a diminished use of alcoholic drinks.

He admitted there was too much moderate drinking, and warned those who did drink that they were imperiling their future. Repeated acts of intoxication would not be allowed by the faculty.

Presbyterian Minister Dead.

GREENSBURG, Pa., Jan. 31.—A private telegram received here conveyed the news of the death, in St. Augustine, Fla., of Rev. Dr. W. W. Moorhead, pastor of the First Presbyterian church of this place for the past 27 years.

The Weather.

Light snow, probably clearing this evening; warmer; fresh to brisk southeasterly winds.

STRIKE IN PROSPECT.

Some Ohio Operators Oppose the Agreement.

MINE OFFICIALS WILL SEE THEM.

A Strong Effort to Be Made to Swing Them Into Line—Hocking Valley Railroad Mine Operators the Chief Opponents of the New Scale.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—The last of the delegates to the recent conference of mine operators and miners have left the city after finishing up matters succeeding the conference. Nothing remains now but to wait until April of this year, when the agreement signed here is to go into effect, to see how many operators will abide by it and pay 10 cents a ton increase. In the interim between now and April 1 the officers of the national organization will move the headquarters from Columbus to Indianapolis.

They will then turn their attention to inducing the Ohio operators who were not parties to the agreement to get in line. It is said that if a failure is made in this attempt a strike will surely be inaugurated in the Hocking Valley, Jackson county and other Ohio coal fields within ten days after the time the new agreement is to go into effect.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—It is asserted by prominent railroad officials that the Hocking Valley railroad mine operators will refuse to enter into the agreement reached at the Chicago conference of the soft coal operators and miners. They say they are dissatisfied with the terms, but in what respect they did not state.

They also say that unless the Hocking Valley operators consent to sign the Chicago agreement before the adjournment of the meeting in that city a strike will be inaugurated by the miners employed by these operators April 1.

BANQUET TO MAINE'S OFFICERS.

U. S. Consul General Lee Entertained Them in Havana—Alms Distributed.

HAVANA, Jan. 31.—United States Consul General Lee has given a banquet at the Havana Yacht clubhouse at Mariano beach to the officers of the United States warship Maine. The guests of the occasion were Captain Sigsbee, Lieutenants Cattlin, Holman, Hood and Jungen, Chaplain Chidwick, Paymaster Littlefield, Doctor Henneberger, Chief Engineer Howell and Cadets Holden and Boyd of Washington.

The company included also several well-known American residents and representatives of the English and American press residing in Havana, Messrs. Atkins, Caldwell, Halstead, Hilgert, Laine, Pepper and Scovel.

Consul General Lee, Vice Consul General Springer and another member of the party distributed alms among the number of poor people whose curiosity had attracted to the clubhouse.

After the banquet several officers of the Maine witnessed a bullfight, a box having been provided for them by Acting Captain General Parrado. The attraction was Mazzantini, Spain's most celebrated bullfighter.

BLANCO'S TRIP IN CUBA.

Claims He Was Warmly Welcomed. Spaniards Claim a Victory.

HAVANA, Jan. 31.—General Blanco, according to the version of his trip received from Spanish sources, was welcomed enthusiastically at Santiago de Cuba. The provincial deputies tendered him a banquet, at which, in the course of a reply to a toast to his health, General Blanco urged that all elements of the population should endeavor to contribute to the establishment of peace.

The Spanish General Luque, with 800 infantry and 160 cavalry, in two columns, while reconnoitering near Macagua and Cayumo, in the direction of the Mejia district, beyond Holguin, discovered that the insurgents had concentrated their forces. He attacked them at Mejia and a sharp engagement ensued. The Spanish accounts say that General Luque took the insurgent trenches by a bayonet charge. The insurgents fled, leaving five killed. Of the Spanish Major Segundo Camarara and Lieutenant Aguatin Luque, son of General Luque, were seriously wounded, 2 soldiers were killed and 20 wounded.

TO STRENGTHEN THE FLEET.

This May Be Reason For Reducing Monadnock's Force

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 31.—The monitor Monadnock left here for Magdalena bay for target practice, and 40 minutes later Captain Clark of the Monterey received a telegram from the department at Washington ordering him to intercept the Monadnock and bring her back to port. It was too late. No cause is given.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—At the navy department it was said that the order referred to was merely to hold the monitor preparatory to sending her to San Francisco, where she is to be laid up and her complement of officers and men reduced. It could not be ascertained whether or not the men thus secured would be used in strengthening the Atlantic squadron.

WILL ENGAGE IN MANOEUVRES.

Then the Spanish Fleet Will Come to American Waters.

MADRID, Jan. 31.—It is announced that the Spanish fleet will, in the first place, proceed to the Canaries, to engage in manoeuvres there.

CARTHAGENA, Spain, Jan. 31.—The first class armored cruiser Vizcaya is starting for America. The rest of the Spanish squadron is preparing to sail for Havana.

The ironclad Cristobal Colon, formerly Giuseppe Garibaldi II, will accompany the torpedo flotilla later.

General Blanco some time ago communicated to the government his desire and absolute need for the small fast-going ships of the torpedo catcher class to prevent filibuster landings, and in the shortest time possible the destroyers Terror, Pluton and Proserpine and the torpedo boats Ariete, Halcón, Azor and Rayo will therefore go to Cuba.

ARMOR PLATE PLANT BIDS.

Twenty-Nine Offers Made, but Only Two For the Entire Plant.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In accordance with the advertisement, issued by the navy department recently, proposals were opened in the office of Secretary Long Saturday for the construction of a government plant, for the sale to the government of sites suitable for such a plant, and for the machinery and buildings necessary if the government decides to make it own armor. There were 29 bids, and they covered every phase of the advertisement.

The two companies now engaged in the manufacture of armor for the navy did not submit proposals. The Huntington (W. Va.) chamber of commerce offered to follow the specifications of the board and build a complete plant for the sum of $3,325,905, including site, buildings and plant.

Another offer to supply a complete plant came from the John P. Holland Torpedo boat company of New York, but no figure was named, the company simply offering to do this for a sum of money and within a period less than estimated by the armor board in its report.

Another proposal that commanded some attention was that of the Reaick Engineering company of Columbus. This was a very complicated proposal to supply each of the numerous buildings, furnaces, boilers, etc., required, as well as 100 acres of land at sums specified in each particular case. A special point of interest about the bid was an accompanying offer by the chamber of commerce of Columbus to donate the sum of $500,000 to the government if the plant were located in that city.

Offers of sites for a plant gratis, or for a nominal sum of money, came from Muskegon, Mich.; Youngstown, O.; Escanaba, Mich.; Duluth, Minn.; Ensley, Ala.; Lorraine, O.; Winthrop Harbor and Dock company of Chicago, Snellfield, Tenn.; Waukegan, Ill.; Detroit, Mich., and Anniston, Ala.

A Marionette (Wis.) man offered to donate a site free if the government would build a $100,000 dock to the lake. Offers came from one man in Hampton, Va., to sell some land and machinery for about $100,000, and from a Philadelphia man to supply some men and a testing machine for $4,100. Some of the big western tool concerns came forward with offers to supply machinery needed for the plant. The last on the list were the Morgan Engineering company of Ohio and the Niles toolworks of Niles, O.; Bement, Miles & Co. and Dietrich & Harvey of Maryland.

The Marion county, Ind., corporation offered to donate 40 acres of land and 50 wells of natural gas. It will take some time to schedule all these bids, but as soon as they can be arranged they will be sent to congress by Secretary Long for the information of that body, in case it desires to embark the government in the manufacture of armor.

Sensation in Shaw Case.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 31.—The grand jury, which has for over a week past been investigating the accusations of embezzlement in connection with the murder of Eli Shaw, charged with the murder of his mother and grandmother, presented to Judge Garrison seven true bills of indictment against Harry S. Scovel, senior counsel of Eli Shaw; John Meshaw, a juror on the Shaw panel, George W. Miles, justice of the peace of Stockton, N. J., and Samuel Johnson, chief of police of Stockton. Scovel, Miles and Johnson were released on $2,500 bail each, but Meshaw was sent to jail.

Fitz Refuses to Fight Corbett.

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—Fitzsimmons and Julien declined to consider Corbett's final challenge. Confine of this city, who had undertaken to have the fight pulled off for a purse of $25,000, held an interview with Julien and Fitzsimmons. The latter declared that Corbett was no longer in Fitzsimmons' class, and would not be until he whipped Maher.

Six Arrested For Murder.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Jan. 31.—Six members of what is known as the Storms gang are now under arrest charged with complicity in the murder of Mrs. Rathburn and her daughter. Bloodstains were found on the clothing of Storms, the leader. There was other incriminating evidence.

KAISER CONFESSED.

Admits He Conspired to Kill His Wife.

CLEMMER FIRED THE FATAL SHOT.

Lizzie DeKalk, He Says, Knew Nothing of Their Intention to Murder the Woman—Declares That His Wife Was Untrue to Him.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 31.—Charles O. Kaiser, convicted of the murder of his wife, Emma Kaiser, has made a confession, in which he admits having conspired with James A. Clemmer to commit the crime, but places the blame for having fired the fatal shot on Clemmer, who is now in the county jail awaiting trial for his alleged share in the crime. Lizzie DeKalk, who is also under arrest charged with being implicated in the murder, is, according to Kaiser's confession, innocent of any knowledge of their purpose to kill Mrs. Kaiser.

CHARLES O. KAISER.

The Norristown Wife Murderer Who Confessed.

Kaiser in his confession says that he never had any intention of doing away with his wife until after he had heard that his wife was untrue to him. Previous to that time he says he had always loved her. As soon as he was told that she was untrue he lost all love for her, and when afterward he met Clemmer in Philadelphia, he it was who tempted him to enter into a scheme to get rid of Mrs. Kaiser by insuring her life and then killing her.

The story of the killing is about the same as heretofore published.

Waiting For a Stove.

The stove that was expected for the baggage room some weeks ago has not arrived yet. Several officials of the road, who have been in the city several times since then, have said the stove would come, and one said it was on the way.

It may be it has been carried by this place, and still those in the baggage room are compelled to put up with the present amount of heat, which is very little.

A Nuisance.

The nuisance of teamsters occupying sidewalks in the center of the city, while unloading coal, has become so general that many complaints are heard. If there is a law governing the matter it should be rigidly enforced.

Will Confirm a Class.

Bishop Leonard, of Cleveland, will confirm a class of young people at St. Stephen's church Sunday, Feb. 27. Special arrangements are now being made, and the service promises to be an impressive one.

Entertained This Afternoon.

Miss Francis Cleveland Dunn, Sixth street, entertained from four to seven this afternoon in honor of her eighth anniversary.

A Hard Fall.

T. O. Timmons fell on the pavement in front of the Syndicate building in Sixth street Saturday morning and hurt his back.

More Houses Needed.

There are at least 27 movings stored in vacant rooms in the city while their owners are endeavoring to secure houses.

Improving.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Scott, who has been seriously ill with diphtheria, is slowly improving.

Mr. Decker Here.

F. H. Decker, of New York, is in the city arranging for the production of the "Mystic Midgets" in Wellsville.

A Meeting.

An important meeting of the Phoenix club has been called for this evening.

REV. SWIFT'S SERMON

He Asserts That the Sinner
Condemns Himself.

MORALITY WILL NOT SAVE MEN

The Reverend Gentleman Declares That
Sin Is Rampant In East Liverpool and
Urges Christian Men and Women to Do
Practical Battle Against Evil.

M. P. Church.

Pastor Swift addressed fine audiences on Sunday, morning and evening, taking as his subject, on both occasions, John xvi and viii. The speaker said in part:

"Jesus came to reveal the power of God through man. God's justice must be satisfied. Jesus paid the debt and mercy became possible. When Jesus went to the Father he said: 'I will not leave you comfortless. I will send you a Comforter.' Why was it expedient for Jesus to go away? The disciples pleaded to retain him here on earth. His going was an absolute necessity. He had fulfilled his mission upon earth, and he went unto his father to plead the cause of humanity. 'My work is done on earth, father, and I've come home.' It was necessary that God should have a representative on earth, and he sent the Holy Ghost. Jesus revealed the power of God while here on earth, and the Holy Ghost convinces men of sin.

"Sin is a disease—an awful disease, a disease of the soul. The physician attends the fever stricken child; he finds the heart thumping, the pulse throbbing and the pupil of the eye distended; by the use of digitalis he can control the heart; with acconite he can quiet the pulse; but the disease is still there, and when the power of the remedies applied ceases to act, the little one is tossed hither and thither upon its couch. Further action is necessary and the disease must be destroyed.

"You have plenty of law in East Liverpool, but the trouble is that it is not applied, and the consequence is that sin is rampant. You can build a fence about the saloon and keep the saloonist from his nefarious and body and soul destroying work for a time by certain half-way laws, but he'll dodge the issue by means of technicalities and again riot in his damnable work. The lawmakers have not got down to the root of the curse; the right medicine has not been applied. The Christian men and women of East Liverpool are afraid to attack the sin in our midst. The churches are afraid to attack it. God will surely give us the victory if we are but earnest and true and practical.

"A man said to me that he could not understand the tendency for evil in his son. The boy had been rightly taught, had had the results of sin and wrong doing pointed out to him, but he still exhibited a tendency for evil. I said to that father: 'I understand your boy's case. You've been sleeping, and while you were asleep, the devil has been sowing seed in your boy's heart.' And I told him the truth.

"Sin is an awful disease. But there is a sure and never failing remedy. God has it, and he holds it out to you, offering it to you without money and without price. Jesus has paid your debt—paid it in full; paid it amidst awful agony, when the human in the divine cried out: 'Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me.'

"You should not only avoid sin, but the thought which causes that sin and makes it possible. The sin does not exist in the crime alone, but in the depraved condition of the heart which can deliberately carry the crime into full consummation. In God's name, and as you hope for mercy and eternal happiness, be careful of your inner thoughts, your nature, your life and character. Get your thoughts right, your heart right; see yourself as a sinner, and then let Jesus take full possession and the victory is won for time and for eternity. Take Christ into our hearts and lives and we are no longer dethroned monarchs, but kings and priests unto God.

"Don't try to save yourself by your good acts, your morality, your clean life. Such features are grand and much to be desired; but they have not the power of salvation. Christ in you is your only hope of glory. Jesus has paid the debt; he alone can do the saving, and you must accept him as your Savior or be eternally lost. Do your good acts in the name of Christ. In the day of judgment, in the presence of the great judge, Jesus will welcome you and say to the father: 'These are they who visited me when I was in prison, were good to me when I was in need and ministered unto me in the hour of suffering and sorrow.' And you will say unto the blessed Redeemer: 'When did we this unto thee, Jesus, thou son of God?' And the Savior will make answer: 'When ye did it unto the least of my children, ye did it unto me.'

"Morality. What is it? Take Christianity out of the world and you have no morality. Morality is simply the fragrance of the flower of Christianity. Don't be satisfied with the mere fragrance, when you can have, simply for the taking, the beautiful flower and fragrance combined, a gift which the world, with all its wealth, cannot give, and, blessed be God, cannot take away.

"The world is not all bad—not by any means. You have Christ in your heart and live a clean and pure life, doing good on every hand and embracing every opportunity so to do, and good men and women will be attracted to you just as surely as the fragrant flower attracts the honey bee. Take Jesus into your heart and keep him ever there, in your office, in your workshop, on the street, in your business transactions, everywhere and anywhere, and you will have a very heaven here on earth.

"And remember, men, that there is a day of judgment. If you will not accept Jesus and the mercy he so freely offers, then will you suffer awful and eternal punishment. God will not punish you. You will punish yourself.

"Your pottery worker in this city turns out work at his bench. He places the good and perfect work carefully aside, in the place assigned for the perfect product, and casts the bad and useless work aside as unfit for the market or for use. He acts justly and right; he is fair and just to his employer and to his own very best interests. Would you have the great God act less justly? You refuse the good and accept the bad. Jesus pleads with you, but you will not hear his voice. He wants to come in unto you and sup with you, but you will not permit him. He tells you that he has paid all the debt and has satisfied the demands of justice, but you spurn him and cast him aside. You refuse mercy and eternal punishment follows your refusal. You stand condemned and condemned by yourself, by your own voluntary act, and this awful thought will follow you through all eternity—that you did condemn yourself and that your punishment is right and just."

In the Churches.

Reverend Weary delivered two excellent sermons at St. Stephen's church yesterday. Large congregations were present.

The attendance at the Christian church yesterday was large. Reverend Pike, of Barnesville, preached good sermons.

At the First Presbyterian church yesterday Doctor Lee occupied the pulpit. Special music in the evening was unusually good. The church was crowded.

Reverend McKittrick, of Allegheny seminary, preached at the First United Presbyterian church last evening and in Chester chapel in the afternoon. Doctor Taggart occupied the pulpit in the morning.

The revival meetings being conducted by Reverend Salmon in East End are still in progress. Great interest was shown yesterday.

ODD SURGICAL FEAT.

Half an Ounce of Iron Filings Taken From a Man's Body.

One of the most remarkable operations in the history of surgery was recently performed at Englewood Union hospital, in Chicago, upon an iron worker named John Glass. The operation resulted in the removal from the man's body in the region of the first rib of a lot of iron filings which are believed to have been absorbed into his system through the lungs.

The largest piece of partly corroded iron found was about the size of a silver half dime, nearly round, but with rough edges. Forty pieces varying in size from that down to a pinhead were taken out. When placed together in a bottle, the quantity of "junk" taken from Glass astonished the surgeons, who decided unanimously that the phenomenon is without a parallel in the annals of surgery. The metal weighs a full half ounce.

Glass was very sick when a reporter called at the hospital, but the doctors are agreed that he will recover.

The Light Side of Nature.

Siddy—I wonder if we should find any babies, Katie, if we dug up these gooseberry bushes?

Katie—Babies don't come out of gooseberry bushes, Siddy.

Siddy—Well, where do they come from, then?

Katie—Why, from the big shops, of course. Haven't you seen printed over some of them, "Families supplied?"—Sketch.

As a rule a man's hair turns gray five years sooner than a woman's.

MYSTERIOUS AND UNCANNY LIGHTS.

The People About Tuscarawas Very
Much Alarmed by Them.

CANAL DOVER, Jan. 31.—The country people in the vicinity of Tuscarawas, a small village south of here, are very much wrought up over the appearance of mysterious lights which have been seen to move over the earth at a low elevation and in a noiseless manner without human agency.

Jacob Myers, a prosperous and intelligent farmer, first saw them on his farm, but he spoke of the matter to no one until he had followed them repeatedly without finding out what they were. He describes the lights as four in number and of dazzling brilliancy.

ROW IN A SCHOOL.

The Principal Objects to the Way the Girls Wear Their Hair.

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 31.—The young ladies attending Rayen school are indignant. Three members of the senior class appeared with their hair done up a little higher on the head than usual, and claim that this displeased the principal, who notified them to change it before returning to the school.

On consulting their parents the latter decided that the change was not necessary. They returned to school and were notified that they could not remain without complying with the request. The parents stand by the daughters, and the end is not yet.

A Big Strike Expected.

BELLAIRE, Jan. 31.—It is thought that a big strike may be looked for at the Wheeling Iron and Steel company's works at Benwood, W. Va. The company, last week, gave its employees notice of a reduction from 10 to 30 per cent in wages after Feb. 21. The employees at the plate mill went out on a strike last Monday. Sunday afternoon the mill men met and rejected the proposed new scale. A strike effecting 800 men is probable.

Ohio Lynching Law Knocked Out.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31.—The Ohio law which says that $5,000 may be collected from a county by friends of a person lynched therein, has been declared unconstitutional. Judge Dustin of the common pleas court at Urbana, holds the law to be an encroachment of the legislative upon the judicial branch of the government. The case will go up to the highest court.

A Narrow Escape From Death.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—Nicholas Backus, keeper of the waterworks crib, has had a narrow escape from death. He started to walk ashore on the ice, when the wind shifted and the ice began moving out into the lake. Backus was on a cake about 12 feet square. Two fishermen finally saw him and he was rescued when about a mile and a half from shore.

Big Purchase of Oil Property.

LIMA, Jan. 31.—The Mount Zion Oil company of this city has sold to Cleveland capitalists, headed by D. F. Sherbondy, all of its property in Wells county, Indiana, consisting of 629 acres of land, all but 100 of which is developed; 48 wells with a production of about 350 barrels a day. The purchase price was in the neighborhood of $110,000.

A Very Small Baby.

SALEM, Jan. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop claim the smallest baby in the country. It is a boy and weighed one pound when a few hours old. Its legs were like a lead pencil and hands the size of a half dollar. It could easily be held in the palm of one hand. The baby is growing and now weighs two pounds and is nine inches in length.

Both Blown Fifty Feet.

BELLEFONTAINE, Jan. 31.—While watching the blasting of large rocks along the line of the Columbus Northwestern railroad, Walter Patrick and A. D. Chamberlain of East Liberty, near here, were blown 50 feet into the air by a premature discharge of dynamite and powder. Both were fatally injured.

Wreck on the B. & O.

KENT, O., Jan. 31.—The engine of a Baltimore and Ohio through freight has been derailed near here. The locomotive and 11 coke cars were piled in a heap. Engineer George Puffman was crushed to death and Fireman W. O. Gildow was terribly cut about the head. Both belonged to Chicago Junction.

Sentenced Father and Son.

PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 31.—Walter Helt, the boy who was convicted of manslaughter for shooting Henry Austin, has been sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory. George Helt, father of the boy, was then arraigned on two indictments charging the operating of a gambling room. He was fined $150.

PRIEST RAN AWAY.

Father Gessner Objected to Celebration
Because Church Is In Debt.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 31.—Rev. Father Martin Gessner of St. Patrick's new $125,000 church at Elizabethport, is missing. His parishioners, who number over 1,000, were to present him with a purse of $2,500 and celebrate a jubilee festival in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate.

Father Gessner had opposed the celebration, as all the debt on the church has not been paid nor is the church, which is the handsomest in the state, fully completed. It is said that Father Gessner left in anger.

Nero's eyeglass, through which the nearsighted tyrant watched the gladiatorial games, was an emerald, cut into the form of a lens.

NEW COLUMBIAN PARK

Will Be a First Class Summer Resort.

STOCK COMPANY ORGANIZED

Eighty-Five Shares Were Taken This Morning, and the Prospects Are Bright—Plans Provide For a Pleasure Place That Will Attract Much Attention.

The parties who propose making a first-class summer resort of Columbian park held a meeting Saturday evening and secured an option on the park.

It is proposed to organize a stock company, with a capital of $10,000. The shares are $50 each, and this morning before 9 o'clock 85 shares had been subscribed. None of the stock is made binding unless all is subscribed.

Should all the stock be obtained work will be commenced at once fencing in the entire ground. The Pittsburg Trotting association have agreed to take charge of the racing, put in a standard half mile track and get it in the circuit. A chute-the-chutes 100 feet high by 250 feet long will be built, and the boats will be run into an artificial lake to be built inside the track. The lake will be converted into a skating park in the winter.

A summer theater, 130x90, will be built, and a first class stock company engaged. The upper story of the building will be used for a dancing pavilion.

There will be no baseball, but it is proposed to have bicycle races. The plans for all the buildings except the grandstand have been prepared.

The railroad company have entered into an agreement to run 50 cent round trip excursions from all cities within a radius of 50 miles.

Going to Alaska.

Samuel Raymond, of Spokane, Wash., has written a letter to friends in this place advising them that he will leave for the Alaskan gold fields February 15. There will be but two in the party, and they will take the overland route.

Raymond is well known here, having been at one time interested in the East Palestine pottery. He was in Liverpool September last.

Hospital Meeting Tonight.

The hospital association will meet this evening to transact important business. It will be at least 30 days before a recommendation will be presented to council, as the committee will present a very thorough report and will also suggest all available sites with a recommendation as to the best locality in which to build the hospital.

Bands Will Parade.

The united bands of the city will parade next Saturday night in honor of the presentation of the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh," at the opera house. The compliment is appreciated by the members of the Grand Army and in particular of those who are making every effort to have the performance a success.

Left His Horse.

The fire department was notified yesterday afternoon of a horse that had been standing in East Market street for a number of hours. Complaint was made by neighbors, and Officer Bryan was sent for the animal, and took it to a stable nearby. The horse was saddled. To a late hour no owner was found.

Compliment For Shaw.

A Sunday paper, in speaking of Alf Shaw, the popular third baseman and catcher of the old Eclipse team, says: "Shaw is keeping in shape at his home in Uhrichsville. He is regarded as one of the most promising young backstops in the country."

Making Good Time.

The work of laying the new Ohio Valley gas main has now reached a point beyond the Abrams farm above East End. The work is being done as fast as possible, and it is thought the line will be finished within the next six weeks.

Suspended Operations.

The construction gang of this part of the Cleveland and Pittsburg road quit working at the Specialty, Saturday, and are today improving the road in the neighborhood of Yellow Creek. The force will be there during the week.

Out of Danger.

Ross, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. George Horner, of Riverview street, who has been ill with typhoid fever for some time, was reported better yesterday and he is now thought to be out of danger.

Chart now open for Drummer Boy at Will Reed's. No extra charge for reserved seats.

MR. HUNTINGTON'S PLANS.

To Build the Largest Drydock in America at Newport News.

Collis P. Huntington arrived at Newport News recently. When Mr. Huntington was asked to state his intentions regarding the proposition he had made to Secretary Long, offering to build a drydock capable of receiving the largest ship afloat, he replied: "You can say that I will shortly build the largest and best drydock in American waters, a basin in which any ship in the United States or England in the merchant marine can be safely docked and overhauled. This dock will be built at one corner of the shipyard and not on the half mile of water front property recently acquired. There is urgent need of a drydock in which the vessels of the navy can be repaired at short notice, and it is such a basin that I propose to build."

"What about the reported Armstrong deal, looking to the purchase of the shipyard?"

"Sir William Armstrong never had an option on this plant. It is true, how-whether or not an ordnance factory will be located here. I have not abandoned the idea, however."—New York Tribune.

Nearly Killed by Wild Dogs.

Wash Anyana Montezano, a farmer, reached Huntsville, Ala., recently and related a thrilling experience with ferocious dogs on the mountain a few nights ago. A band of wild dogs attacked him and came near taking his life. He was thrown to the ground by the animals and was barely rescued by a friend with a gun. He lost a thumb and sustained many lacerations about the limbs and body.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

American Warships Honored.

The two American warships in port would not allow President Dole to sail away from the islands without doing him honors. There were five ruffles of the drum from the Baltimore, while the flagship band played "Hawaii Pono." The sides of both the Baltimore and Bennington were manned.—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

Champagne owes its quality to the soil, a mixture of chalk, silica, light clay and oxide of iron, and to the great care and delicate manipulation in manufacture.

After the conquests of Mexico and Peru emeralds were so abundant that one Spanish nobleman took home three bushels of them.

ever, that I did see him and offered to sell him an interest in the shipyard. This deal might have been consummated but for some sharp traders who sought to take part in the transaction. My reason for offering to sell an interest in the plant was to have an ordnance factory established at Newport News and also to extend the yard, though it is now one of the largest in the world. I offered to sell Sir William Armstrong half of the stock, or, if he wished to have the controlling interest, 55 per cent of it. This, I say, was in the interest of the yard. I would not think of selling that much of the stock if I did not have so much other business to engage my attention. I cannot state positively

SPAIN will have to secure funds before it can afford to enter into a serious discussion of Cuban affairs with this country.

BUSINESS men who announce their bargains through the NEWS REVIEW always enjoy good trade. This paper is read by the purchasing public.

TELLER and his friends are happy now, but they will resume their customary hysterical condition when they hear of what the house has done to that resolution.

If Mr. Bryan continues this lecturing he can afford to pay all his campaign expenses the next time he is a candidate. Saying nothing at $500 a night is a good thing.

KEEP YOUR WORD.

Make your word as good as your bond, and your bond as good as gold. It is a nice thing to have a reputation above reproach for honor, honesty and truthfulness, and this reputation will stand you in good stead in the hour of need.

CINCINNATI is too slow, Cleveland is all but out of the race, Dayton has given up hope of securing the prize, and the only contestants now seeking the Ohio centennial celebration are Toledo and Columbus, with the partisans of each talking a great deal and apparently doing little.

ANY law dealing with primary elections should apply to every county of the state. There is no reason why discrimination should be made in favor of any. Because Representative Ashford's bill contains this discrimination it should not be supported by the friends of election reform.

PASSES FOR LEGISLATORS.

Ohio will be placed in an unenviable position if the legislature passes a measure compelling the railroads operating in the state to provide representatives and senators with transportation free of any charge. On the surface it seems like a tax for the privilege of doing business in the state, but before long it would show its real purpose in the most advantageous legislation possible for railroad corporations. Let the statesmen pay their own traveling expenses, they are a part of the cost of greatness, and then they will be under obligation to no corporation. Any other course would be nothing short of dangerous.

DON'T BE A COWARD.

Don't be a coward. Have the courage of your convictions. If you know that any feature in the community is an evil, a curse to your fellow men, dare to meet the issue face to face and condemn it in no uncertain terms. If you love the dear old bible, and believe it is the word of God, stand by it though all the devils in earth and hell assail you. God is all powerful, and he will surely aid you and crown your efforts with victory if you stand unflinchingly for the right. If the saloon is a curse to your neighbor and to the community at large, then condemn the saloon and do all in your power to wipe it out of legal existence. The curse of the workingmen and mechanics of the United States is the American saloon, and the men who are engaged in the liquor traffic are not good and true citizens, and all the laws of the land cannot make them such. No man is a good citizen who takes his neighbors' money from him and returns no just equivalent. The American saloon is a curse and a disgrace to the nation, and the disgrace should be wiped out. God speed the day.

WELLSVILLE.

COLLECTING FOR CUBA

First Move to Help the People on the Island.

ONE BOX IS READY TO GO

W. H. Daughaday Has Started Well, and Is Meeting With Success -- Visitors In Town--All the Real News of Wellsville.

W. H. Daughaday has been the first to inaugurate a movement in Wellsville for practical aid for Cuba. Like most of our business men, he is a busy man, but as he takes his orders among his patrons for groceries he shows them the urgent appeal for aid for Cuba, published in the Epworth Herald, and asks for a contribution, which, when finally collected, will fill a large box, and will be forwarded to the Cuban Famine Relief committee, New York city.

It is expected that the first box will be filled and forwarded by tomorrow. Now let all who approve of his plan go and do likewise, as this is worth more than a thousand "God pity you's" for starving Cuba. There is no patent ever applied for on this method.

Another Pottery Project.

There is another pottery project on hand, and Liverpool parties are deeply interested in its consummation. It is understood that they have offered to build a four kiln plant for $12,500, and the plan is endorsed by a leading member of the board of trade. The matter will be considered officially in the near future.

The interested parties have plenty of money with which to operate the plant.

TONSILINE CURES SORE THROAT.

Read what a well-known Minister writes us about Tonsiline:

East Palestine, O., April 8, 1895.

The Tonsiline Co.:

I take pleasure in saying that we have used Tonsiline in the family for ulcerated sore throat, and it not only seemed to prevent the attack from being so severe as formerly, but cured the throat completely in a very few days. When any one of us has sore throat of any kind, the rush is for the Tonsiline bottle, and that is the last of it. It is certainly a most excellent remedy.

Yours very truly,

day afternoon and was yesterday interred at Chestnut Grove.

The interment of the 11-year-old daughter of George Todd, Commerce street, will be at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at Bethel church. The services will be held at the home this evening. The family have been through sore affliction. Seven members of the family have been ill with fever, but all recovered save this daughter.

The Endeavorers of the First Presbyterian church will hold a business meeting and social in the lecture room tonight.

The gospel meetings of the Methodist Episcopal church continue with increasing interest. Many were turned from the doors last night after the card—standing room only—had been up some time. The services for tonight are especially, but not exclusively, for young people.

The funeral of Mrs. James Davidson, of Broadway, took place from the United Presbyterian church at 1:30 this afternoon.

Poor Director W. C. Fraser is attending the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Belle Hill, of Allegheny, Pa. Mrs. Thomas Stafford, Misses Kate and Jane McIntosh and Mrs. W. C. Fraser are also in attendance.

The dinner party of Mrs. Charles McGregor was a pronounced success. The receiving party were Mrs. Chas. McGregor, Miss Maud McGregor and Miss Elizabeth Ballard, of North Branch, Mich. There were about 45 ladies present. Miss Lou Owens won the first guessing prize and Miss M. M. Boyce the second.

The fancy work club meet with Mrs. Horace Conn tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. W. G. Stevenson, Main street, will entertain her friends at cards and fancy work Wednesday afternoon.

Two young men from Wellsville went to Toronto yesterday, called by something to them so important that inclement weather and bad roads were no obstacle. They went on wheels, but their friends say it was a three wheeled cycle that will go on a track. It snowed, and rumor has it that on preparing to return the wheels refused to turn, and the boys, as they wearily trudged behind instead of mounted upon the wheels, constantly said to each other by way of encouragement, "It's a good thing, push it along."

On the River.

The river continues to fall, and the marks at this port this morning registered 12.6 feet. Considerable slush ice went down the river yesterday, but there as not enough of it to interfere with navigation.

Small coal shipments are still being made, and there are bright prospects for another rise before the end of the week.

The Virginia, passed down Saturday, had an enormous trip. It had all the freight it could carry and had over a score of passengers bound for New Orleans to attend the Mardi Gras.

AT THE USUAL TIME

Will the Spring Primaries be Held.

NO MEETING IS CALLED

For This Week, Nor Will It Be Until the Candidates Are In Line and Ready For Battle—The List Is Steadily Growing—An Unusual Feature.

It is not at all probable that a meeting of the Republican committee will be called for this week, although the primaries will be held at the appointed time.

Chairman Nellis said today that the committee was ready to meet at any time, and when the candidates were prepared the date for the primaries would be set and all preparations for the battle made. It is probable the election will be held about March 19, although there is a possibility that it will be the Saturday following.

Although a large number of candidates are in the field there has been to the present time very little interest shown. All candidates are working hard, and the politicians expect to see something in the way of a hard fight before it is over.

A feature that is attracting much attention is the lack of aspirants for seats in council. While everybody knows there will be four vacancies, none but those who are now in council have announced themselves for the position.

AFTER THE OFFICERS.

A Homestead Player Says the Liverpool Protest Was All Right.

Thomas Watkins, one of the officials of the Homestead Association Football team, after stating that the president of the league is unfit for the position he holds, has the following to say of Referee Martin:

"Without any prejudice against Mr. Martin, I am bound to state that in all league games refereed by him he has shown his incapability. I have only to mention the fact that in the cup tie, East Liverpool versus Homestead, at Homestead, Nov. 6, he called time and gave the game to Homestead when the ball was not in play.

"This game was protested by East Liverpool, and the protest, according to the rules, should have been sustained."

Mr. Watkins is one of the strongest supporters of the Homestead team, and was instrumental in having the protest of the Rovers thrown out.

CUT OFF THE LIST.

Township Trustees Are Making Some Changes.

The township trustees this morning began a weeding out process, and at least six of their regular patrons were cut from the list. There was a great deal of complaint, but the trustees informed the parties they would send them to the infirmary but would not keep them here. In every instance the patrons declined the offer and will endeavor to keep themselves.

The action of the trustees was taken because they found they were being imposed upon in a number of cases.

CHANGE OF BASE.

A Well Known Jeweler In New Quarters.

J. T. Roberts, the well known jeweler and skillful optician, will remove from the Ikirt block, Fifth street, on or about February 1st and occupy the handsome quarters next door to the Foutts grocery, now occupied by the Boston candy store. Note the location, 167 Fifth street.

Mr. McGraw's View.

Member McGraw, of the school board, is not in favor of the proposed change in the way of electing school boards. He gives as his reason that the different wards will not receive the proper attention, and refers to the time when five members of the board in this city came from the Third ward.

Manager Dawson Resigned.

The East Liverpool ball club met Saturday evening and settled up the affairs of the dance.

Manager Dawson has decided to decline to take charge of the team for 1898, and has tendered his resignation. It will be acted upon at the next meeting.

WORDS OF FLAME.

John Wesley Arraigues and Condemns the Liquor Curse.

Officials, members and pastors of the great Methodist Episcopal church, will read with interest the condemnation of the accursed liquor traffic, as voiced by John Wesley, the founder of their church. It has no uncertain sound. It has the ring of inspiration. Would to God that each and all of his followers would today adopt the same language against the accursed stuff, and carry the thought out in their lives and actions.

Would to God that all other churches of the living God would see to it that just such hot anathemas and hot condemnation should be uttered against the body and soul destroying and crime inducing traffic. Every lover of the blessed Christ should read the words of flame of this disciple of God, a man who was very merciful and as gentle as a little child, but who found it difficult to find language to express his loathing for dealers in the drink concocted and dealt out to humanity by the devil and his minions. In his sermon on "The Use of Money," in the year 1760, Wesley used this language:

"Neither may we hurt our neighbor in his body; therefore, we may not sell anything which tends to impair health. Such is, eminently, all that liquid fire commonly called drams, or spirituous liquors. It is true these may have a place in medicine, although there would rarely be occasion for them, were it not for the unskillfulness of the practitioner; therefore, such as prepare and sell them only for this end may keep their conscience clear. But all who sell them in the common way to any that will buy are poisoners general. They murder His Majesty's subjects by wholesale, neither does their eye pity or spare. They drive them to hell like sheep; and what is their gain? Is it not the blood of these men? Who, then, would envy their large estates and sumptuous palaces? A curse is in the midst of them; the curse of God cleaves to the stones, the timber, the furniture of them. The curse of God is in their gardens, their walk, their groves, a fire that burns to the nethermost hell. Blood, blood is there, the foundation, the floor, the walls, the roof, are stained with blood! And canst thou hope, O thou man of blood! though thou art clothed in scarlet and fare sumptuously every day—canst thou hope to deliver down thy fields of blood to the third generation? Not so, for there is a God in heaven; therefore thy name shall soon be rooted out."

Only One Arrest.

Officer Grim made the only arrest of Saturday night and yesterday. Jack Delaney was put in the coop Saturday evening, and was released upon the payment of a $6.60 fine. Mat Hayes, who was in for train jumping, was also released. Janitor Strain is the only one now in custody.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY

Little Howard Fisher Passed Away This Morning.

ASKED TO BE LIFTED UP

And Before a Doctor Could Be Called He Was Dead—Had Been Ill For Some Time With Appendicitis, But Was Very Much Better Last Night.

Howard Fisher, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fisher, died this morning at 8 o'clock at their home in Calcutta road from appendicitis.

The child had been in poor health for several months, but has not been seriously ill. Last night he was playing about the house and was in unusual good spirits, and seemed to be a great deal better than he had been for some time.

He was taken seriously ill this morning while lying in bed and asked to be raised up, but before a physician could be summoned he was dead.

The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the house, Rev. O. D. McCullough officiating. Interment will be made at River-view.

Improving a Church.

The board of trustees of the First M. P. church at a recent meeting decided to improve the building to some extent, and yesterday sufficient money was raised.

Electric lights will be placed in the upper room, and the roof will be repaired. Other changes will be made. It is the intention of those in charge of the work to make the building one of the best in the city.

A Little Delay In the Injunction Proceedings.

SHRADER HAS MANY BONDS

There Are Other Stockholders, Although E. D. Marshall and J. E. McDonald Presented Affidavits That They Were No Longer Interested—Filed in Lisbon.

Judge Smith did not grant an injunction Saturday afternoon restraining John Shrader from preventing Receiver G. H. Owen from taking possession of the bridge. Instead he postponed the hearing until Tuesday.

Attorney W. B. Hill, Mr. Owen, Mr. Shrader, Attorney Lones and E. D. Marshall appeared at Judge Smith's office in Wellsville at the appointed time, and the hearing commenced. Mr. Lones stated that the position of his client was plain. The bridge was not in Ohio, only a portion of it being under the jurisdiction of the court. The toll collected was largely earned in West Virginia, and therefore the receiver had no right to it.

Affidavits were presented from E. D. Marshall and J. E. McDonald showing that they were no longer stockholders in the company. Mr. Shrader showed that he held $160,000 of the bonds, and controlled the other $40,000, but it was not stated who owned them. He said he with the Pittsburgh Trust company held one mortgage for $130,000 and another for $70,000. A copy of the second mortgage was presented.

Judge Smith decided to postpone the hearing until Tuesday in order that the receiver might modify the application, and including Shrader and the Trust company in the original petition, have it filed with Clerk McNutt for record.

The affairs of the company are gradually coming before the public. Shrader, it seems owns $85,000 of the stock, and the remainder is held by George P. Rust, of Cleveland; Prof. J. G. Kerry, of Montreal, and A. R. Mackall, of this place, each having $5,000. There has not been a reorganization of the company since J. E. McDonald, the president, and E. D. Marshall, secretary, lost their offices because they severed their connection with the institution.

HOW TO BALE COTTON

PRESENT METHOD WASTEFUL, A NEW ONE IS SOUGHT.

Consul Boyle at Liverpool Reports on the Matter—Cylindrical Bale Is Favored. English Importers and American Exporters Are Discussing the Question.

James Boyle, United States consul at Liverpool, has sent to the bureau of foreign commerce of the state department an exhaustive statement of cotton baling and cotton furs. No port in the world receives so much American cotton as Liverpool. The annual importations there for a number of years past have amounted to about $3,000,000. Just at present the American exporters of cotton and the English importers of that commodity are discussing the best methods of baling, and they are seeking to agree upon some improved method of doing this work.

Consul Boyle writes as follows upon this matter:

"Recently, on invitation of the European representative of the American Cotton company, which controls the cylindrical bale system, I inspected a shipment of cotton baled by it. The bales were received at the warehouse in perfect condition, and I learned that there was no loose cotton in the hold of the ship from these bales, nor was there a single case of 'no marks.' One of the most annoying features of the old system of baling is that the jute covering of a number of the bales becomes so torn that marks indicating the place of origin, the quality and the consignee are absolutely undecipherable. Sometimes the percentage of 'no marks' is as high as 5 per cent of the total cargo. Under the rule of the Liverpool cotton trade the 'no mark' bales are divided pro rata among the various consignees of the entire cargo. The loose cotton found in the hold of the ship and in the warehouse consequent upon the handling is also divided in this manner.

"As may be easily imagined, this system, while the best possible under the circumstances, is often very unsatisfactory, and especially so when cotton below sample is among the 'no mark' bales. It is noted here that the American manufacturers have started an agitation for an improvement in the baling of cotton, but it must be admitted that their grievance is a small one compared with that of the British cotton brokers and spinners. The coarse jute covering is nearly always torn, and in a large percentage of the bales one-third or one-half of the cotton is exposed, and many bales have the covering almost entirely off. Some of the bales are known as 'cauliflower heads,' because of their likeness to huge cauliflowers. There is an enormous loss both to the American shipper and to the British consignee through the present defective system of baling, as much of the cotton becomes loose, and a great deal of the outside of the bales gets damaged. Cotton brokers, spinners, insurance men and ship owners here all unite in declaring the urgent need of an improved system of baling. As to whether the cylindrical bale fully meets the requirements of the trade, I am not prepared to say. Certain it is, however, that the cylindrically baled cotton consigned to Liverpool arrived in perfect condition, there not only being no loose cotton, but not a single case of 'no marks.'"

JAMES BOYLE.

Fire on board ship or at the dock is one of the most serious enemies of the cotton exporting trade. Mr. Boyle says that there have been some very damaging cotton fires at the Liverpool docks in times past, but the last two years have been peculiarly fortunate ones in this respect, no fire of real consequence having occurred. "One of the strangest claims put forward in behalf of the cylindrical bale," writes the consul, "is that it is much less likely to catch and hold fire than the old style American bale." Some tests have recently been made in Liverpool, and the results of them upheld this point.—Washington Post.

Man at His Word.

"Have a care, oh, my daughters," saith the wise woman, "how thou takest man at his word when he speaketh concerning himself! He glories in his strength and vaunteth it before his fellows and most of all before thee, but he would be handled as a fragile piece of bric-a-brac."—Womankind.

THEY FEAR BOMBARDMENT.

Why Atlantic City People Object to a Carrier Pigeon Loft.

Some of the residents of Atlantic City do not take kindly to the idea of having the national government establish an immense carrier pigeon loft there, in which to keep a stock of the birds for use in the naval service. The scheme of using carrier pigeons to bear messages between ships at sea and the shore is all well enough, but the Atlantic City people fear that if the central loft and training station is established there the city will be rendered more liable to bombardment by a foreign foe in case of war. This city is the largest and wealthiest of the seashore cities on the New Jersey coast, and it would not be pleasant to have the place blown out of the water for the sake of a few hundred pigeons.

That the government is in earnest in the matter is regarded as certain. Inspector Train of the Fourth lighthouse district was here a few days ago and selected a site on which the loft will be erected. It will be located on the lighthouse grounds, at Pacific and Rhode Island avenues, and the birds will be under the care of Keeper Bills and Assistant Keepers Adams and Henson. The buildings are to be erected at once, and the loft will be stocked with at least 500 of the best homing pigeons obtainable.

The birds will be principally useful in securing better co-operation between land and naval forces in time of war. Messages will be dispatched back and forth between the vessels and this place and the messages can be wired from here to any point without delay. This will save the time and trouble involved in sending a gunboat ashore with dispatches and will enable the land forces to be more quickly concentrated wherever needed.—New York Herald.

A LUCKY BRAKEMAN.

Coates Is the Hero of Several Wrecks and Never Lost a Limb.

Dora Coates, a brakeman on the Cincinnati division of the Big Four road, has in all probability had more narrow escapes in the railway service than any other living man who has himself all together. He has figured in a dozen or more wrecks and accidents, always being hurt, but although he has suffered broken bones he has never lost a limb. About a year ago he was in the middle of a freight that went through a bridge over Tanner's creek, east of Greensburg, Ind. Ten hoboes, who were in a car near him, were killed, and he escaped with slight injuries. A few weeks afterward he was knocked off his train by a bridge near Lawrenceburg, falling between the cars upon the ties of the bridge, and escaped with but few bones broken and other wounds of less serious nature.

Two months ago near the same bridge his train parted and ran together, piling up eight cars, with Coates in their midst, another miraculous escape with but a few bones broken. A few days ago he was walking the top of his train while running between Adams and St. Paul when a tramp threw a rock at him. He dodged, lost his balance and fell a distance into a small stream over which he was then passing. His head butted into the soft bottom near a large boulder, but he straightened himself up and walked out. His injuries were internal, however, but in a few days he will resume his dangerous duties. He was born on March 13, and four serious accidents have happened to him on that date. His friends and people warn him, but he laughs at the superstition.—St. Louis Republic.

FOR A PUBLIC PARK.

Mr. Dunn Wants to Borrow Governors Island For New York.

Elias B. Dunn, the weather forecaster, went to see Mayor Van Wyck of New York recently and talked to him about a plan to borrow Governors island from the United States government and use it as a public city park, leaving the fortifications intact, under an agreement to return the island if it is ever needed for military purposes.

Mr. Dunn says that Governors island could be used as a park, under the terms he proposes, without any cost to the city, the permits for little refreshment stands and merry go rounds bringing in enough money to pay for transportation back and forth. The grounds are laid out now, and no money would be needed for that purpose. If the island could be borrowed, $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 would be saved in the small parks fund.

Mayor Van Wyck was pleased with the idea. He is in favor of getting Governors island by purchase even.

The secretary of war, it is said, has declared that he would never consent to the giving up of the island, but Mr. Dunn thinks that he could be persuaded to change his mind. The headquarters of the department of the east, he thinks, could be changed to Fort Wadsworth or Schuyler or Hamilton.—New York Tribune.

OUT OF THE QUESTION

Is a Uniform Wage List East and West.

THAT IS WHAT TRENTON THINKS

The Delegates Who Were In This Place Have Not Encouraged Their Friends Since Returning Home—Some of the Reasons Given.

The Trenton correspondent of the Crockery Journal does not believe a uniform wage list is possible. It says: "It is now said by the returned delegates from the local potters' organizations, who went west to investigate the wage conditions and the differences existing, if any, that such a thing as a uniform wage rate is out of the question. The differences between the jiggermen of the two sections could not be reconciled short of a revolution, it is said. As an example, they say that the jiggerman in Trenton has probably 80 dozen molds to work off, and in all probability the shapes and sizes would amount to two or three dozen, with also that number of profiles to be looked after. In the west the jiggerman has a hundred dozen molds, all of one size, and when they begin to wear out he is not expected to sort out the damaged ones and to use the others, as he is required to do in the east. He throws out the whole hundred dozen and replaces them with the same number of new ones. It is said that western jiggermen have been known to have as many as 50 dozen wash-bowl molds to work with, and it is said that the more molds a man has the more satisfactorily he can work. The conclusion is that the conditions are so widely different that a uniform price would not be equitable."

SIGNED THE PETITION.

Wellsville People Want the Street Railway Extended.

Manager Hoefgen, of the street railway, has received a petition signed by a great many Wellsville people asking the extension of the line to the brick plants in the West End.

Mr. Hoefgen is considering the matter, but no announcement is made as to what will be done. If Wellsville gets the iron works it is probable the extension will be made at once.

Calls Them Frauds.

The agricultural experiment station officials have sent out two important warnings to farmers.

One says that a man giving the name of Haun is traveling through the country selling material for spraying fruits, claiming the endorsement of the state. The other is of a man named Essig, who is selling a recipe for the prevention of pear blight.

Farmers are warned against purchasing these things, and prosecuting attorneys are asked to arrest and prosecute the offenders.

Delayed by the Weather.

Workmen employed in the construction of the East End extension of the street railway have been delayed by the miserable weather and the line is not yet completed. It will be placed in operation as soon as possible.

The slips on the Wellsville road was a warning Manager Hoefgen did not disregard, and the force was taken from East End and sent there to clear ditches and do what was possible to prevent other slips.

AN EARLY ADJOURNMENT.

For This Reason House Leaders Will Hurry Through the Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The house leaders intend to give appropriation bills the right of way as soon as possible in order to make an early adjournment possible. The moment the appropriation bills are out of the way the new rules will be brought in, and after that the contested elections cases and the bankruptcy bill will be brought forward.

AERIAL RAILWAY TO KLONDIKE.

One Now In Operation Which Shortens Part of the Trip.

TACOMA, Jan. 31.—Hugh C. Wallace, president of the Chilkoot Railroad and Transportation company, has advised of the completion of the company's aerial railway over the Chilkoot pass to Lake Linderman. This marks a new era for Klondike travel, as the time between tidewater and the headwaters of the Yukon river is shortened from a month to one day, besides removing the peril and hardships.

The company has made a contract with the Canadian government at 15 cents per pound for transporting all its freight for the mounted police from Dyea to Lake Linderman.

Demand of Millions Crazy.

DENVER, Jan. 31.—The crazy man who demanded $5,000,000 at the Colorado National bank has been identified as Charles Heyn, a sausage maker formerly employed by the Denver Packing company. Heyn's insanity was caused by the excessive use of liquor.

STRONG SYMPATHY FOR CUBA.

New York Senate Expected to Pass a Resolution Tonight.

ALBANY, Jan. 31.—In the senate the assembly Cuban resolution will be taken up tonight and unanimously passed.

It expresses sympathy with the cause of Cuba, denounces the atrocities committed by the Spanish troops upon the Cubans, and calls upon the national government to exercise its influence in behalf of peace by whatever means necessity may require, at the earliest moment, when its obligations other than those affecting Spain, will permit the termination of the struggle.

Woman Murdered Her Sister.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Jan. 31.—Mrs. Canavan of the parish of Kent, becoming jealous of her sister, Minnie Tucker, purchased strychnine, steeped in a decoction of tea and gave it to her sister, who drank it and died. She has been arrested.

FIGHTING IN GREECE.

Greek Peasants Resist Collection of Taxes by a Turkish Force.

ATHENS, Jan. 31.—Seyfullah Pasha, with 2,000 soldiers and two guns, recently went west to the village of Lazarina, near Trikala, to enforce the payment of taxes.

The peasants met the troops with a sustained fire and a regular engagement ensued. The next day the attack was renewed.

GOVERNOR OF FLORIDA.

Whatever the senate may have thought, it was apparent that the people at large approved the general's acts, judging from the receptions they gave him in Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, to and through which cities he journeyed while awaiting the verdict of the legislators. In New York some unlucky individual chanced to remark, "General, some of our people up this way think you were rather severe in altering the court martial sentence of Amistad and ordering him to be shot."

"Sir," responded Jackson, at once in a fury, "that matter is misunderstood. Under the same circumstances I would do the same thing again. They were spies, sir; they were spies. Their execution was necessary." Whatever Andrew Jackson may have done, he never expressed regret for it nor permitted any one else to criticize his doings. Some very healthy and lasting animosities date from this period, particularly those against Harrison and Clay. The latter, indeed, was most pronounced in his views of the Florida executions, saying: "No man can be executed in this country without two things being shown: First, that the law condemns him to death; second, that his death is pronounced by that tribunal which is authorized by the law to try him. I deny that any commander in chief in this country has this absolute power of life and death at his sole discretion. It is contrary to the genius of all our laws and institutions."

The commander in chief ever after held Henry Clay in detestation. His feelings at the time are indicated in a letter written ten days later to a friend in Nashville: "Inclosed you will find a piece addressed to the Hon. Henry Clay, which I wish you to have republished. You will see him skinned here, and I hope you will roast him in the west. The hypocrisy of Clay in pretending friendship for me and endeavoring to crush the executive through me makes me despise the villain. Clay is politically d—d, and I have exposed the correspondence with General Scott, and he is double d—d. It is fortunate I have come on here. Had I not, things would not have been as they are. Let Mrs. J. have a perusal of the inclosed as soon as they are reprinted in The Whig and The Clarion, for I wish both these papers to take up the subject warmly."

This was in 1819. In the spring of the following year the army was reduced, a measure which, as it left him without a command, he very bitterly denounced in a private letter, saying: "The government ought to be d—d. Instead of reducing the army in a republic like this it ought to be increased tenfold."

His rage was appeased by his appointment as governor of Florida, with a salary of $5,000 a year, and his farewell address to the army, though unusual and Jacksonian, was in the main continuatory. Accompanied by Mrs. Jackson and the "two Andys" he sailed for Pensacola, via New Orleans, and their reception at the latter city is set forth in the letters of his amiable spouse, who writes to a friend at home:

We were met at Natchez and conducted to this place. The house and furniture are so splendid I can't pretend to a description. The attention and honors paid to the general far exceed a recital by my pen. They conducted him to the grand theater. His box was decorated with elegant hangings. At his appearance the theater rang with loud acclamations, "Vive Jackson!" Songs of praise were sung by ladies, and in the midst they crowned him with a crown of laurel. The Lord hath promised his humble followers a crown that fadeth not away. The present one is already withered; the leaves are falling off. I have written this through the greatest bustle and confusion. The nobility have assembled to escort the general with a full band of martial music to review the troops. Oh, farewell! Pray for your sister in a heathen land, far from my people and church. Present me to all friends. I can scarcely hear for confusion. Yours with affection,

RACHEL JACKSON.

They both soon sickened of Pensacola, as Mrs. Jackson wrote:

There never was a man more disappointed than the general has been. In the first place, he has not the power to appoint one of his friends, which, I thought, was in part the reason of his coming. I shall not pretend to describe the fatigue, toil and trouble. Those Spaniards had as leave die as give up their country. He has had terrible scenes. The governor has been put in the calaboose, which is a terrible thing, really.

And it was really a terrible thing, for the ex-governor, who afterward protested to congress through his minister that the said "Governor Don Andrew Jackson, furious after having insulted the Spanish commissary with atrocious words, with turbulent and violent actions, with disjointed reasonings, blows on the table, his mouth foaming and possessed with the furies, answered that for his actions he was responsible to no other than to his government, and that it was of little importance to him whatever might be the result and that he (the Spanish ex-governor) might even protest before God himself if he wanted to."

Governor Don Andrew Jackson resigned his position and went home in November, 1821, to the vast relief of the administration, which, as Mr. J. Q. Adams remarked, dreaded the arrival of a mail from Florida, not knowing what General Jackson might do next and knowing well that whatever he might do the secretary of state [himself] would have to explain it away to the Spanish government.

When General Jackson returned home from Florida, he was so ill that he did not expect to live to see completed the new mansion at The Hermitage which he was then building. Some one protested against the site chosen as too level, when he replied: "No, Mrs. Jackson chose this spot, and she shall have her wish. I am going to build this house for her, for I don't expect to live in it myself." Yet, notwithstanding his feebleness from long exposure in the field and a constitution shattered by hard living, he survived his wife 20 years and more. He was then 54 years of age, and there is no doubt he sincerely desired to settle down for life, be it long or short, on his cherished acres. The Hermitage estate at that time comprised 1,000 acres, half in tillage and half forest. The house he built, while neither spacious nor elegant, was commodious and comfortable and was soon filled to overflowing with friends and relations, some of whom came to stay for months and others for a lifetime.

REINDEER FOR ALASKA.

General Eaton Advises Maintaining the Herds for Future Uses.

General John Eaton, who was once a United States commissioner of education and is at the present time the head of a large college in Salt Lake City, is just now interested in preserving the reindeer herds in Alaska.

"These herds," he said recently, "are depleted in this emergency by taking one portion north to save the 600 whalers in danger of starvation in the Arctic ocean. The remaining portion trained to the harness are in demand to take food to the imperiled miners. If these reindeer are not replaced in the several herds, there will be none with which to carry on the education of the natives in this new industry and none with which to meet demands of next winter, which, with the rush for gold, are likely to be greater than at present. Congress evidently should make the small appropriation necessary to keep up the herds and thus be prepared for future emergencies."

"In civilizing the natives of northern Alaska they must be trained in the reindeer industry, for in raising the deer, caring for them and training them to the harness they produce their food supply, their supply of clothing and their means of transportation, for the reindeer milk and meat are food; their skins and entrails furnish clothing, and their bones and horns are manufactured into implements, and they above all others are the animals for transportation there. When reindeer transportation is perfected, mails will be carried and news will be communicated as regularly as in northern Europe."—Philadelphia Press.

How He Stopped a Prayer.

Dr. R. F. Horton's reputation for courage will not be lessened by the story of a daring exploit he performed a few days ago. At a religious meeting which he was conducting in London a prayer of excessive length was being offered. He took advantage of a slight pause on the part of the person who was offering it to bring it to a sudden end by giving out a hymn, to the great annoyance of the prayerful one, who protested and left the room. Dr. Horton explained, however, that long prayers did not promote the usefulness of a devotional gathering.—London Chronicle.

Not much freight was received at the freight depot Saturday and, as a result, the business of the day was rather slack.
Four horses were received in the freight yards, consigned to Frank Dickey. The horses were sent from Orrville.
The special meeting of the clerks' union, to have been held Wednesday evening, has been postponed until next week.
At St. Aloysius church yesterday morning the approaching marriage of Mr. John Callihan and Miss Angelina O'Hanlon was announced.
A water pipe burst in Riverview street yesterday morning. The water department was notified, and an employe was sent to stop the flood.
The bathroom at the fire station will be extensively improved during the next 10 days. Several minor additions will be made and the room will be painted.
At the next regular meeting of the directors of the Citizens' National bank the plans for their new building, which will be built in Washington street, will be adopted.
The household effects of C. W. Duncan, of Spencerville, O., were received at the freight depot this morning. During last week five movings were handled at this place.
All the switches on the main line and the Horn switch were cleared of snow this morning by Section Foreman Hickey's gang. The men were at work early in morning.
An uptown sidewalk when covered with only a little snow makes a good skating surface, and last night at 10 o'clock there were half a dozen boys enjoying the sport.
Small boys have become so much of a nuisance about the passenger station that wholesale arrests will be made this week if the practice of loafing cannot be broken in any other way.
Travel on the street cars was heavier Saturday night than it has been for some time. All the cars were well filled and the receipts showed a material increase over former weeks.
Daniel Madden, the well known and popular printer at the Vodrey pottery, and Mrs. Bradley, of Washington street, will be united in marriage this evening. They have many friends in this city.
All Methodists should read carefully the views of the great and good Wesley on the curse of intoxicants, and the duty of the members, officials and pastors of the church as directed against the damnable traffic. Read the article in today's issue.
Father Kress, of Cleveland, will speak in St. Aloysius church Wednesday evening on Mexico. Wednesday morning the candle mass will be observed and on Thursday the blessing of the throats.
The meeting at the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon was well attended, several hundred people being present. The subject, "Where Are You Going," was discussed at length by Secretary Sully.
A Wheeling music concern is now making arrangements to open a store in this place. For some days they have had a representative in the city looking over the ground, and this morning he left for Wheeling to make his report.
An eastern firm with agencies throughout the United States recently asked of the managers to send to the home office a report of the amount of business done and money handled during the year of 1897. Yesterday the agent of the company in this city received a circular from his firm and found that the Cleveland office headed the list with East Liverpool second. This clearly demonstrates that this town is one of the best on the map.

NEW SILVER MEASURE.

White Metal Republican Senators Encouraged.

MAY TRY STRONGER RESOLUTION.

Success of Teller Proposition Likely to Result in a Direct Blow at Gold. House Republicans Will Kill Colorado Senator's Resolution.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The bimetallic Republican senators are still discussing the advisability of renewing the financial agitation in the senate by the introduction of some measure of their own, though they do not seem quite so intent upon this course as they appeared to be immediately succeeding the vote upon the Teller resolution. If they present a resolution it probably will be a declaration to the effect that the United States is not committed to the gold standard.

It is the intention of the house leaders to offset as far as possible the action of the senate in passing the Teller resolution by killing that declaration of the sense of congress regarding the payment of the government's coin bonds in silver on an aye and may vote in the house this week.

While the full Republican strength in the house cannot be commanded against the resolution, no doubt is expressed by those who have made it their business to canvass the situation that the majority against it will be decisive. As soon as the resolution is reported back from the ways and means committee, which may be today, the rules committee will bring in a special order for its consideration. The time allowed for debate is likely to be brief, as the leaders do not believe there is any necessity for protracted debate and, moreover, a long discussion would measurably decrease the very purpose they have in view, namely, a prompt and decisive negative reply to the senate's declaration.

DELAYING HAWAIIAN TREATY.

Friends of the Measure Afraid to Bring It to a Vote.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—It seems quite improbable that the Hawaiian treaty will receive much attention, at least in executive session, during the week. Still Senator Davis, chairman of the foreign relations committee, announced it to be his purpose to move an executive session for the consideration of the treaty today, but it is possible that he may be influenced by pressure from senators who have other measures requiring immediate attention to postpone this motion for a few days. He does not, however, admit such a probability. There is a growing impression that the friends of the treaty feel that their safest course is in delay, and this is the explanation of the tactics so far observed with reference to it. There is excellent foundation for this surmise.

They have made a very thorough canvass of the senate and have not been able to discover where they can get more than 58 votes, whereas to ratify the treaty they will have to have 60. They feel that even some of those 58 are not entirely reliable. In view of these circumstances they realize that nothing is to be lost by an informal postponement, especially when it comes naturally through the pressure of other business, and some of them believe that everything is to be gained by that course.

Senator Pettigrew's determination to discuss the Hawaiian question in open session will have a tendency to take the direction of the ratification resolution out of the hands of the foreign relations committee and it may prove to be the opening wedge to a discussion of the whole subject in open session of the senate. His resolution declares it to be contrary to the traditions of this country to acquire any territory so situated as to require a navy to protect it. This is a basis broad enough for the discussion of the whole subject, and it is understood to be Mr. Pettigrew's intention to enter very fully into the question of the condition of affairs in Hawaii.

He will deal with Mr. Dole's visit and will undertake to show that that gentleman was never elected president, that the constitution of the present government of Hawaii was never submitted to the people of that country and that in fact the whole government is irregular. It is possible that objection may be made to discussing such subjects in open session, in view of the pendency of the treaty, and Mr. Pettigrew may not be allowed to proceed except behind closed doors.

AN EXPENSIVE SON-IN-LAW.

Got Away With Over $100,000 of His Father-in-Law's Money.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—Moses Rosenstock has been arraigned in the Center street police court on the complaint of his father-in-law, David Wilfson of Baltimore, as a fugitive from justice. He was held pending the arrival of requisition papers from Baltimore.

Mr. Wilfson, the complainant, is the senior member of the millionaire furniture manufacturing firm of David Wilfson & Son, Baltimore.

Thirteen years ago, according to the story told by Mr. Wilfson in court, Rosenstock was compelled, through his gambling debts and entanglements, to leave Germany. He came to this country, and, after a short residence in Baltimore, married Mr. Wilfson's daughter, despite her father's opposition. Soon after that Rosenstock was given an important position with his father-in-law's firm. It finally came to light that he had stolen $20,000. The matter was settled for a time by Rosenstock's accepting a few hundred dollars and leaving town. He left his wife and five children behind. An expert was put to work on his books and, Mr. Wilfson states, discovered that Rosenstock was $30,000 short in his accounts. This was in 1886. Besides this, he had spent $75,000.

For a year and more detectives scoured the country for Rosenstock. He went, they learned, to Philadelphia, and after being in the employ of a firm there for a few months, disappeared, having defaulted in a small sum. Later he went to Pittsburgh, and, according to the story, practically did the same thing over again.

SHANE MAKES A DENIAL.

Says He Never Conferred With McKinley on the Ohio Situation.

NEW YORK, Jan. 31.—C. C. Shane has denied that he was interested in Senator Hanna's recent election in Ohio any more than any other Republican. He declared that he only knew General Boyce as a customer. Representative Otis testified before the Ohio senatorial investigating committee that H. H. Boyce had given $1,750 for a vote for Senator Hanna; that he had represented himself as a friend of C. C. Shane, and that he had said that Mr. Shane was about to have a conference with President McKinley relative to the situation in Ohio.

Mr. Shane said that he had never had a conference with the president in regard to the situation in Ohio, and that no such conference was ever contemplated.

PRINCETON BOYS MISJUDGED

President Patton Defends, Yet Admonishes, and Warns Against Liquor.

PRINCETON, N. J., Jan. 31.—A few days ago President Francis L. Patton announced that he would address the undergraduate body Sunday on the subject of temperance. As a consequence Marquand chapel was crowded. In the audience were several signers of the Princeton Inn license, among them Grover Cleveland, Prof. Charles Woodruff Shields, whose resignation from the Presbyterian church was caused by criticism growing out of his signing the petition, and Prof. Charles Greene Rockwood. Dr. Patton said:

"At their meeting in October the attention of our trustees was turned to the recent agitation which has so seriously involved the good name of Princeton university. A committee was appointed to consider the whole subject and report at a subsequent meeting of the trustees. That report was presented and adopted at the meeting held on the Dec. 23. It was resolved that a strict literal and impartial enforcement of the existing law respecting intoxicating drinks be enjoined upon the faculty, and that the president of the university be asked to make a statement to the students on the whole question.

FRANCIS LANDEY PATTON.

He Says Princeton Students Are Misjudged and Misunderstood.

"I bear testimony to the high moral tone of the students of this university." Then he declared that the boisterous outbursts of exuberance, etc., on the part of the students was often misunderstood to be produced by drunkenness, when it was false. The students were many times misjudged. He said the tendency in Princeton was toward a diminished use of alcoholic drinks.

He admitted there was too much moderate drinking, and warned those who did drink that they were imperiling their future. Repeated acts of intoxication would not be allowed by the faculty.

Presbyterian Minister Dead.

STRIKE IN PROSPECT.

Some Ohio Operators Oppose the Agreement.

MINE OFFICIALS WILL SEE THEM.

A Strong Effort to Be Made to Swing Them Into Line—Hocking Valley Railroad Mine Operators the Chief Opponents of the New Scale.

CHICAGO, Jan. 31.—The last of the delegates to the recent conference of mine operators and miners have left the city after finishing up matters succeeding the conference. Nothing remains now but to wait until April of this year, when the agreement signed here is to go into effect, to see how many operators will abide by it and pay 10 cents a ton increase. In the interim between now and April 1 the officers of the national organization will move the headquarters from Columbus to Indianapolis.

They will then turn their attention to inducing the Ohio operators who were not parties to the agreement to get in line. It is said that if a failure is made in this attempt a strike will surely be inaugurated in the Hocking Valley, Jackson county and other Ohio coal fields within ten days after the time the new agreement is to go into effect.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—It is asserted by prominent railroad officials that the Hocking Valley railroad mine operators will refuse to enter into the agreement reached at the Chicago conference of the soft coal operators and miners. They say they are dissatisfied with the terms, but in what respect they did not state.

They also say that unless the Hocking Valley operators consent to sign the Chicago agreement before the adjournment of the meeting in that city a strike will be inaugurated by the miners employed by these operators April 1.

BANQUET TO MAINE'S OFFICERS.

U. S. Consul General Lee Entertained Them in Havana—Aims Distributed.

HAVANA, Jan. 31.—United States Consul General Lee has given a banquet at the Havana Yacht club house at Mariano beach to the officers of the United States warship Maine. The guests of the occasion were Captain Sigbee, Lieutenants Cattlin, Holman, Hood and Jungen, Chaplain Chidwick, Paymaster Littlefield, Doctor Henneberger, Chief Engineer Howell and Cadets Holden and Boyd of Washington.

The company included also several well-known American residents and representatives of the English and American press residing in Havana, Messrs. Atkins, Caldwell, Halstead, Hilgert, Laine, Pepper and Seovel.

Consul General Lee, Vice Consul General Springer and another member of the party distributed aims among the number of poor people whom curiosity had attracted to the clubhouse.

After the banquet several officers of the Maine witnessed a bullfight, a box having been provided for them by Acting Captain General Parrado. The attraction was Mazzantini, Spain's most celebrated bullfighter.

BLANCO'S TRIP IN CUBA.

Claims He Was Warmly Welcomed. Spaniards Claim a Victory.

HAVANA, Jan. 31.—General Blanco, according to the version of his trip received from Spanish sources, was welcomed enthusiastically at Santiago de Cuba. The provincial deputies tendered him a banquet, at which, in the course of a reply to a toast to his health, General Blanco urged that all elements of the population should endeavor to contribute to the establishment of peace.

The Spanish General Luque, with 800 infantry and 160 cavalry, in two columns, while reconnoitering near Macagua and Cayumo, in the direction of the Mejia district, beyond Holguin, discovered that the insurgents had concentrated their forces. He attacked them at Mejia and a sharp engagement ensued. The Spanish accounts say that General Luque took the insurgent trenches by a bayonet charge. The insurgents fled, leaving five killed. Of the Spanish Major Segundo Camarara and Lieutenant Aguatin Luque, son of General Luque, were seriously wounded, 2 soldiers were killed and 20 wounded.

TO STRENGTHEN THE FLEET.

This May Be Reason For Reducing Monadnock's Force.

SAN DIEGO, Cal., Jan. 31.—The monitor Monadnock left here for Magdalena bay for target practice, and 40 minutes later Captain Clark of the Monterey received a telegram from the department at Washington ordering him to intercept the Monadnock and bring her back to port. It was too late. No cause is given.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—At the navy department it was said that the order referred to was merely to hold the monitor preparatory to sending her to San Francisco, where she is to be laid up and her complement of officers and men reduced. It could not be ascertained whether or not the men thus secured would be used in strengthening the Atlantic squadron.

WILL ENGAGE IN MANOEUVRES.

Then the Spanish Fleet Will Come to American Waters.

MADRID, Jan. 31.—It is announced that the Spanish fleet will, in the first place, proceed to the Canaries, to engage in manoeuvres there.

CARTHAGENA, Spain, Jan. 31.—The first class armored cruiser Vizcaya is starting for America. The rest of the Spanish squadron is preparing to sail for Havana.

The ironclad Cristobal Colon, formerly Giuseppe Garibaldi II, will accompany the torpedo flotilla later.

General Blanco some time ago communicated to the government his desire and absolute need for the small fast-going ships of the torpedo catcher class to prevent filibuster landings, and in the shortest time possible the destroyers Terror, Pluton and Proserpine and the torpedoboats Ariete, Halcon, Azor and Rayo will therefore go to Cuba.

ARMOR PLANT BIDS.

Twenty-Nine Offers Made, but Only Two For the Entire Plant.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—In accordance with the advertisement, issued by the navy department recently, proposals were opened in the office of Secretary Long Saturday for the construction of a government plant, for the sale to the government of sites suitable for such a plant, and for the machinery and buildings necessary if the government decides to make it own armor. There were 29 bids, and they covered every phase of the advertisement.

The two companies now engaged in the manufacture of armor for the navy did not submit proposals. The Huntington (W. Va.) chamber of commerce offered to follow the specifications of the board and build a complete plant for the sum of $3,325,905, including site, buildings and plant.

Another offer to supply a complete plant came from the John P. Holland Torpedoboot company of New York, but no figure was named, the company simply offering to do this "for a sum of money and within a period less than estimated by the armor machinery board in its report."

Another proposal that commanded some attention was that of the Renick Engineering company of Columbus. This was a very complicated proposal to supply each of the numerous buildings, furnaces, boilers, etc., required, as well as 150 acres of land at sums specified in each particular case. A special point of interest about the bid was an accompanying offer by the chamber of commerce of Columbus to donate the sum of $500,000 to the government if the plant were located in that city.

Offers of sites for a plant gratis, or for a nominal sum of money, came from Muskegon, Mich.; Youngstown, O.; Escanaba, Mich.; Duluth, Minn.; Ensley, Ala.; Lorraine, O.; Winthrop Harbor and Lock company of Chicago, Snedfield, Tenn.; Waukegan, Ill.; Detroit, Mich., and Anniston, Ala.

A Marionette (Wis.) man offered to donate a site free if the government would build a $100,000 dock to the lake. Offers came from one man in Hampton, Va., to sell some land and machinery for about $100,000, and from a Philadelphia man to supply some men and a testing machine for $4,100. Some of the big western tool concerns came forward with offers to supply machinery needed for the plant. The last on the list were the Morgan Engineering company of Ohio and the Niles toolworks of Niles, O.; Bement, Miles & Co. and Dietrich & Harvey of Maryland.

The Marion county, Ind., corporation offered to donate 40 acres of land and 50 wells of natural gas. It will take some time to schedule all these bids, but as soon as they can be arranged they will be sent to congress by Secretary Long for the information of that body, in case it desires to embark the government in the manufacture of armor.

Sensation in Shaw Case.

CAMDEN, N. J., Jan. 31.—The grand jury, which has for over a week past been investigating the accusations of embezzlement in connection with the mistrial of Eli Shaw, charged with the murder of his mother and grandmother, presented to Judge Garrison seven true bills of indictment against Harry S. Scovel, senior counsel of Eli Shaw; John Meshaw, a juror on the Shaw panel, George W. Miles, justice of the peace of Stockton, N. J., and Samuel Johnson, chief of police of Stockton. Scovel, Miles and Johnson were released on $2,500 bail each, but Meshaw was sent to jail.

Fitz Refuses to Fight Corbett.

DETROIT, Jan. 31.—Fitzsimmons and Julien declined to consider Corbett's final challenge. Confine of this city, who had undertaken to have the fight pulled off for a purse of $25,000, held an interview with Julian and Fitzsimmons. The latter declared that Corbett was no longer in Fitzsimmons' class, and would not be until he whipped Maher.

Six Arrested For Murder.

BURLINGTON, Ia., Jan. 31.—Six members of what is known as the Storms gang are now under arrest charged with complicity in the murder of Mrs. Rathburn and her daughter. Bloodstains were found on the clothing of Storms, the leader. There was other incriminating evidence.

KAISER CONFESSED.

Admits He Conspired to Kill His Wife.

CLEMMER FIRED THE FATAL SHOT.

Lizzie DeKalk, He Says, Knew Nothing of Their Intention to Murder the Woman—Declares That His Wife Was Untrue to Him.

NORRISTOWN, Pa., Jan. 31.—Charles O. Kaiser, convicted of the murder of his wife, Emma Kaiser, has made a confession, in which he admits having conspired with James A. Clemmer to commit the crime, but places the blame for having fired the fatal shot on Clemmer, who is now in the county jail awaiting trial for his alleged share in the crime. Lizzie DeKalk, who is also under arrest charged with being implicated in the murder, is, according to Kaiser's confession, innocent of any knowledge of their purpose to kill Mrs. Kaiser.

CHARLES O. KAISER.

The Norristown Wife Murderer Who Confessed.

Kaiser in his confession says that he never had any intention of doing away with his wife until after he had heard that his wife was untrue to him. Previous to that time he says he had always loved her. As soon as he was told that she was untrue he lost all love for her, and when afterward he met Clemmer in Philadelphia, he it was who tempted him to enter into a scheme to get rid of Mrs. Kaiser by insuring her life and then killing her.

The story of the killing is about the same as heretofore published.

Waiting For a Stove.

The stove that was expected for the baggage room some weeks ago has not arrived yet. Several officials of the road, who have been in the city several times since then, have said the stove would come, and one said it was on the way.

It may be it has been carried by this place, and still those in the baggage room are compelled to put up with the present amount of heat, which is very little.

A Nuisance.

The nuisance of teamsters occupying sidewalks in the center of the city, while unloading coal, has become so general that many complaints are heard. If there is a law governing the matter it should be rigidly enforced.

Will Confirm a Class.

Bishop Leonard, of Cleveland, will confirm a class of young people at St. Stephen's church Sunday, Feb. 27. Special arrangements are now being made, and the service promises to be an impressive one.

Entertained This Afternoon.

Miss Francis Cleveland Dunn, Sixth street, entertained from four to seven this afternoon in honor of her eighth anniversary.

A Hard Fall.

T. O. Timmons fell on the pavement in front of the Syndicate building in Sixth street Saturday morning and hurt his back.

More Houses Needed.

There are at least 27 movings stored in vacant rooms in the city while their owners are endeavoring to secure houses.

Improving.

The little child of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Scott, who has been seriously ill with diphtheria, is slowly improving.

Mr. Decker Here.

F. H. Decker, of New York, is in the city arranging for the production of the "Mystic Midgets" in Wellsville.

A Meeting.

An important meeting of the Phoenix club has been called for this evening.

REV. SWIFT'S SERMON

He Asserts That the Sinner
Condemn's Himself.

MORALITY WILL NOT SAVE MEN

The Reverend Gentleman Declares That
Sin Is Rampant In East Liverpool and
Urges Christian Men and Women to Do
Practical Battle Against Evil.

M. P. Church.

Pastor Swift addressed fine audiences on Sunday morning and evening, taking as his subject, on both occasions, John xvi and viii. The speaker said in part:

"Jesus came to reveal the power of God through man. God's justice must be satisfied. Jesus paid the debt and mercy became possible. When Jesus went to the Father he said: 'I will not leave you comfortless. I will send you a Comforter.' Why was it expedient for Jesus to go away? The disciples pleaded to retain him here on earth. His going was an absolute necessity. He had fulfilled his mission upon earth, and he went unto his father to plead the cause of humanity. 'My work is done on earth, father, and I've come home.' It was necessary that God should have a representative on earth, and he sent the Holy Ghost. Jesus revealed the power of God while here on earth, and the Holy Ghost convinces men of sin.

"Sin is a disease—an awful disease, a disease of the soul. The physician attends the fever stricken child; he finds the heart thumping, the pulse throbbing and the pupil of the eye distended; by the use of digitalis he can control the heart; with aconite he can quiet the pulse; but the disease is still there, and when the power of the remedies applied ceases to act, the little one is tossed hither and thither upon its couch. Further action is necessary and the disease must be destroyed.

"You have plenty of law in East Liverpool, but the trouble is that it is not applied, and the consequence is that sin is rampant. You can build a fence about the saloon and keep the saloonist from his nefarious and body and soul destroying work for a time by certain half-way laws, but he'll dodge the issue by means of technicalities and again riot in his damnable work. The law-makers have not got down to the root of the curse; the right medicine has not been applied. The Christian men and women of East Liverpool are afraid to attack the sin in our midst. The churches are afraid to attack it. God will surely give us the victory if we are but earnest and true and practical.

"A man said to me that he could not understand the tendency for evil in his son. The boy had been rightly taught, had had the results of sin and wrong doing pointed out to him, but he still exhibited a tendency for evil. I said to that father: 'I understand your boy's case. You've been sleeping, and while you were asleep, the devil has been sowing seed in your boy's heart.' And I told him the truth.

"Sin is an awful disease. But there is a sure and never failing remedy. God has it, and he holds it out to you, offering it to you without money and without price. Jesus has paid your debt—paid it in full; paid it amidst awful agony, when the human in the divine cried out: 'Father, if it be possible, let this cup pass from me.'

"You should not only avoid sin, but the thought which causes that sin and makes it possible. The sin does not exist in the crime alone, but in the depraved condition of the heart which can deliberately carry the crime into full consummation. In God's name, and as you hope for mercy and eternal happiness, be careful of your inner thoughts, your nature, your life and character. Get your thoughts right, your heart right; see yourself as a sinner, and then let Jesus take full possession and the victory is won for time and for eternity. Take Christ into our hearts and lives and we are no longer dethroned monarchs, but kings and priests unto God.

"Don't try to save yourself by your good acts, your morality, your clean life. Such features are grand and much to be desired; but they have not the power of salvation. Christ in you is your only hope of glory. Jesus has paid the debt; he alone can do the saving, and you must accept him as your Savior or be eternally lost. Do your good acts in the name of Christ. In the day of judgment, in the presence of the great judge, Jesus will welcome you and say to the father: 'These are they who visited me when I was in prison, were good to me when I was in need and ministered unto me in the hour of suffering and sorrow.' And you will say unto the blessed Redeemer: 'When did we this unto thee, Jesus, thou son of God?' And the Savior will make answer: 'When ye did it unto the least of my children, ye did it unto me.'

"Morality. What is it? Take Christianity out of the world and you have no morality. Morality is simply the fragrance of the flower of Christianity. Don't be satisfied with the mere fragrance, when you can have, simply for the taking, the beautiful flower and fragrance combined, a gift which the world, with all its wealth, cannot give, and, blessed be God, cannot take away.

"The world is not all bad—not by any means. You have Christ in your heart and live a clean and pure life, doing good on every hand and embracing every opportunity so to do, and good men and women will be attracted to you just as surely as the fragrant flower attracts the honey bee. Take Jesus into your heart and keep him ever there, in your office, in your workshop, on the street, in your business transactions, everywhere and anywhere, and you will have a very heaven here on earth.

"And remember, men, that there is a day of judgment. If you will not accept Jesus and the mercy he so freely offers, then will you suffer awful and eternal punishment. God will not punish you. You will punish yourself.

"Your pottery worker in this city turns out work at his bench. He places the good and perfect work carefully aside, in the place assigned for the perfect product, and casts the bad and useless work aside as unfit for the market or for use. He acts justly and right; he is fair and just to his employer and to his own very best interests. Would you have the great God act less justly? You refuse the good and accept the bad. Jesus pleads with you, but you will not hear his voice. He wants to come in unto you and sup with you, but you will not permit him. He tells you that he has paid all the debt and has satisfied the demands of justice, but you spurn him and cast him aside. You refuse mercy and eternal punishment follows your refusal. You stand condemned and condemned by yourself, by your own voluntary act, and this awful thought will follow you through all eternity—that you did condemn yourself and that your punishment is right and just."

In the Churches.

Reverend Weary delivered two excellent sermons at St. Stephen's church yesterday. Large congregations were present.

The attendance at the Christian church yesterday was large. Reverend Pike, of Barnesville, preached good sermons.

At the First Presbyterian church yesterday Doctor Lee occupied the pulpit. Special music in the evening was unusually good. The church was crowded. Reverend McKittrick, of Allegheny seminary, preached at the First United Presbyterian church last evening and in Chester chapel in the afternoon. Doctor Taggart occupied the pulpit in the morning.

The revival meetings being conducted by Reverend Salmon in East End are still in progress. Great interest was shown yesterday.

ODD SURGICAL FEAT.

Half an Ounce of Iron Filings Taken From
a Man's Body.

One of the most remarkable operations in the history of surgery was recently performed at Englewood Union hospital, in Chicago, upon an iron worker named John Glass. The operation resulted in the removal from the man's body in the region of the first rib of a lot of iron filings which are believed to have been absorbed into his system through the lungs.

The largest piece of partly corroded iron found was about the size of a silver half dime, nearly round, but with rough edges. Forty pieces varying in size from that down to a pinhead were taken out. When placed together in a bottle, the quantity of "junk" taken from Glass astonished the surgeons, who decided unanimously that the phenomenon is without a parallel in the annals of surgery. The metal weighs a full half ounce.

Glass was very sick when a reporter called at the hospital, but the doctors are agreed that he will recover.

The Light Side of Nature.

Siddy—I wonder if we should find any babies, Katie, if we dug up these gooseberry bushes?

Katie—Babies don't come out of gooseberry bushes, Siddy.

Siddy—Well, where do they come from, then?

Katie—Why, from the big shops, of course. Haven't you seen printed over some of them, "Families supplied?"—Sketch.

As a rule a man's hair turns gray five years sooner than a woman's.

MYSTERIOUS AND UNCANNY LIGHTS.

The People About Tuscarawas Very
Much Alarmed by Them.

CANAL DOVER, Jan. 31.—The country people in the vicinity of Tuscarawas, a small village south of here, are very much wrought up over the appearance of mysterious lights which have been seen to move over the earth at a low elevation and in a noiseless manner without human agency.

Jacob Myers, a prosperous and intelligent farmer, first saw them on his farm, but he spoke of the matter to no one until he had followed them repeatedly without finding out what they were. He describes the lights as four in number and of dazzling brilliancy.

ROW IN A SCHOOL.

The Principal Objects to the Way the Girls Wear Their Hair.

YOUNGSTOWN, Jan. 31.—The young ladies attending Rayen school are indignant. Three members of the senior class appeared with their hair done up a little higher on the head than usual, and claim that this displeased the principal, who notified them to change it before returning to the school.

On consulting their parents the latter decided that the change was not necessary. They returned to school and were notified that they could not remain without complying with the request. The parents stand by the daughters, and the end is not yet.

A Big Strike Expected.

BELLAIRE, Jan. 31.—It is thought that a big strike may be looked for at the Wheeling Iron and Steel company's works at Benwood, W. Va. The company, last week, gave its employees notice of a reduction from 10 to 30 per cent in wages after Feb. 21. The employees at the plate mill went out on a strike last Monday. Sunday afternoon the mill men met and rejected the proposed new scale. A strike effecting 800 men is probable.

Ohio Lynching Law Knocked Out.

COLUMBUS, Jan. 31.—The Ohio law which says that $5,000 may be collected from a county by friends of a person lynched therein, has been declared unconstitutional. Judge Dustin of the common pleas court at Urbana, holds the law to be an encroachment of the legislative upon the judicial branch of the government. The case will go up to the highest court.

A Narrow Escape From Death.

CLEVELAND, Jan. 31.—Nicholas Backus, keeper of the waterworks crib, has had a narrow escape from death. He started to walk ashore on the ice, when the wind shifted and the ice began moving out into the lake. Backus was on a cake about 12 feet square. Two fishermen finally saw him and he was rescued when about a mile and a half from shore.

Big Purchase of Oil Property.

LIMA, Jan. 31.—The Mount Zion Oil company of this city has sold to Cleveland capitalists, headed by D. F. Sherbondy, all of its property in Wells county, Indiana, consisting of 629 acres of land, all but 100 of which is developed; 48 wells with a production of about 350 barrels a day. The purchase price was in the neighborhood of $110,000.

A Very Small Baby.

SALEM, Jan. 31.—Mr. and Mrs. William Bishop claim the smallest baby in the country. It is a boy and weighed one pound when a few hours old. Its legs were like a lead pencil and hands the size of a half dollar. It could easily be held in the palm of one hand. The baby is growing and now weighs two pounds and is nine inches in length.

Both Blown Fifty Feet.

BELLEFONTAINE, Jan. 31.—While watching the blasting of large rocks along the line of the Columbus Northwestern railroad, Walter Patrick and A. D. Chamberlain of East Liberty, near here, were blown 50 feet into the air by a premature discharge of dynamite and powder. Both were fatally injured.

Wreck on the B. & O.

KENT, O., Jan. 31.—The engine of a Baltimore and Ohio through freight has been derailed near here. The locomotive and 11 coke cars were piled in a heap. Engineer George Puffman was crushed to death and Fireman W. O. Gildow was terribly cut about the head. Both belonged to Chicago Junction.

Sentenced Father and Son.

PORTSMOUTH, Jan. 31.—Walter Helt, the boy who was convicted of manslaughter for shooting Henry Austin, has been sentenced to the Mansfield Reformatory. George Helt, father of the boy, was then arraigned on two indictments charging the operating of a gambling room. He was fined $150.

PRIEST RAN AWAY.

Father Gessner Objected to Celebration
Because Church Is In Debt.

ELIZABETH, N. J., Jan. 31.—Rev. Father Martin Gessner of St. Patrick's new $125,000 church at Elizabethport, is missing. His parishioners, who number over 1,000, were to present him with a purse of $2,500 and celebrate a jubilee festival in honor of the twenty-fifth anniversary of his pastorate.

Father Gessner had opposed the celebration, as all the debt on the church has not been paid nor is the church, which is the handsomest in the state, fully completed. It is said that Father Gessner left in anger.

Nero's eyeglass, through which the nearsighted tyrant watched the gladiatorial games, was an emerald, cut into the form of a lens.

NEW COLUMBIAN PARK

Will Be a First Class Summer Resort.

STOCK COMPANY ORGANIZED

Eighty-Five Shares Were Taken This Morning, and the Prospects Are Bright—Plans Provide For a Pleasure Place That Will Attract Much Attention.

The parties who propose making a first-class summer resort of Columbian park held a meeting Saturday evening and secured an option on the park.

It is proposed to organize a stock company, with a capital of $10,000. The shares are $50 each, and this morning before 9 o'clock 85 shares had been subscribed. None of the stock is made binding unless all is subscribed.

Should all the stock be obtained work will be commenced at once fencing in the entire ground. The Pittsburgh Trotting association have agreed to take charge of the racing, put in a standard half mile track and get it in the circuit. A chute-the-chutes 100 feet high by 250 feet long will be built, and the boats will be run into an artificial lake to be built inside the track. The lake will be converted into a skating park in the winter.

A summer theater, 130x90, will be built, and a first class stock company engaged. The upper story of the building will be used for a dancing pavilion.

There will be no baseball, but it is proposed to have bicycle races. The plans for all the buildings except the grandstand have been prepared.

The railroad company have entered into an agreement to run 50 cent round trip excursions from all cities within a radius of 50 miles.

Going to Alaska.

Samuel Raymond, of Spokane, Wash., has written a letter to friends in this place advising them that he will leave for the Alaskan gold fields February 15. There will be but two in the party, and they will take the overland route.

Raymond is well known here, having been at one time interested in the East Palestine pottery. He was in Liverpool September last.

Hospital Meeting Tonight.

The hospital association will meet this evening to transact important business. It will be at least 30 days before a recommendation will be presented to council, as the committee will present a very thorough report and will also suggest all available sites with a recommendation as to the best locality in which to build the hospital.

Bands Will Parade.

The united bands of the city will parade next Saturday night in honor of the presentation of the "Drummer Boy of Shiloh," at the opera house. The compliment is appreciated by the members of the Grand Army and in particular of those who are making every effort to have the performance a success.

Left His Horse.

The fire department was notified yesterday afternoon of a horse that had been standing in East Market street for a number of hours. Complaint was made by neighbors, and Officer Bryan was sent for the animal, and took it to a stable nearby. The horse was saddled. To a late hour no owner was found.

Compliment For Shaw.

A Sunday paper, in speaking of Alf Shaw, the popular third baseman and catcher of the old Eclipse team, says: "Shaw is keeping in shape at his home in Uhrichsville. He is regarded as one of the most promising young backstops in the country."

Making Good Time.

The work of laying the new Ohio Valley gas main has now reached a point beyond the Abrams farm above East End. The work is being done as fast as possible, and it is thought the line will be finished within the next six weeks.

Suspended Operations.

The construction gang of this part of the Cleveland and Pittsburgh road quit working at the Specialty, Saturday, and are today improving the road in the neighborhood of Yellow Creek. The force will be there during the week.

Out of Danger.

Ross, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. George Horner, of Riverview street, who has been ill with typhoid fever for some time, was reported better yesterday and he is now thought to be out of danger.

Chart now open for Drummer Boy at Will Reed's. No extra charge for reserved seats.

MR. HUNTINGTON'S PLANS.

To Build the Largest Drydock in America at Newport News.

Collis P. Huntington arrived at Newport News recently. When Mr. Huntington was asked to state his intentions regarding the proposition he had made to Secretary Long, offering to build a drydock capable of receiving the largest ship afloat, he replied: "You can say that I will shortly build the largest and best drydock in American waters, a basin in which any ship in the United States or England in the merchant marine can be safely docked and overhauled. This dock will be built at one corner of the shipyard and not on the half mile of water front property recently acquired. There is urgent need of a drydock in which the vessels of the navy can be repaired at short notice, and it is such a basin that I propose to build."

"What about the reported Armstrong deal, looking to the purchase of the shipyard?"

"Sir William Armstrong never had an option on this plant. It is true, how-whether or not an ordnance factory will be located here. I have not abandoned the idea, however."—New York Tribune.

Nearly Killed by Wild Dogs.

Wash Anyana Montezano, a farmer, reached Huntsville, Ala., recently and related a thrilling experience with ferocious dogs on the mountain a few nights ago. A band of wild dogs attacked him and came near taking his life. He was thrown to the ground by the animals and was barely rescued by a friend with a gun. He lost a thumb and sustained many lacerations about the limbs and body.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

American Warships Honored.

The two American warships in port would not allow President Dole to sail away from the islands without doing him honors. There were five ruffles of the drum from the Baltimore, while the flagship band played "Hawaii Poi." The sides of both the Baltimore and Bennington were manned.—Pacific Commercial Advertiser.

Champagne owes its quality to the soil, a mixture of chalk, silica, light clay and oxide of iron, and to the great care and delicate manipulation in manufacture.

ever, that I did see him and offered to sell him an interest in the shipyard. This deal might have been consummated but for some sharp traders who sought to take part in the transaction. My reason for offering to sell an interest in the plant was to have an ordnance factory established at Newport News and also to extend the yard, though it is now one of the largest in the world. I offered to sell Sir William Armstrong half of the stock, or, if he wished to have the controlling interest, 55 per cent of it. This, I say, was in the interest of the yard. I would not think of selling that much of the stock if I did not have so much other business to engage my attention. I cannot state positively

SPAIN will have to secure funds before it can afford to enter into a serious discussion of Cuban affairs with this country.

BUSINESS men who announce their bargains through the NEWS REVIEW always enjoy good trade. This paper is read by the purchasing public.

TELLER and his friends are happy now, but they will resume their customary hysterical condition when they hear of what the house has done to that resolution.

If Mr. Bryan continues this lecturing he can afford to pay all his campaign expenses the next time he is a candidate. Saying nothing at $500 a night is a good thing.

KEEP YOUR WORD.

Make your word as good as your bond, and your bond as good as gold. It is a nice thing to have a reputation above reproach for honor, honesty and truthfulness, and this reputation will stand you in good stead in the hour of need.

CINCINNATI is too slow, Cleveland is all but out of the race, Dayton has given up hope of securing the prize, and the only contestants now seeking the Ohio centennial celebration are Toledo and Columbus, with the partisans of each talking a great deal and apparently doing little.

ANY law dealing with primary elections should apply to every county of the state. There is no reason why discrimination should be made in favor of any. Because Representative Ashford's bill contains this discrimination it should not be supported by the friends of election reform.

PASSES FOR LEGISLATORS.

Ohio will be placed in an unenviable position if the legislature passes a measure compelling the railroads operating in the state to provide representatives and senators with transportation free of any charge. On the surface it seems like a tax for the privilege of doing business in the state, but before long it would show its real purpose in the most advantageous legislation possible for railroad corporations. Let the statesmen pay their own traveling expenses, they are a part of the cost of greatness, and then they will be under obligation to no corporation. Any other course would be nothing short of dangerous.

DON'T BE A COWARD.

Don't be a coward. Have the courage of your convictions. If you know that any feature in the community is an evil, a curse to your fellow men, dare to meet the issue face to face and condemn it in no uncertain terms. If you love the dear old bible, and believe it is the word of God, stand by it though all the devils in earth and hell assail you. God is all powerful, and he will surely aid you and crown your efforts with victory if you stand unflinchingly for the right. If the saloon is a curse to your neighbor and to the community at large, then condemn the saloon and do all in your power to wipe it out of legal existence. The curse of the workingmen and mechanics of the United States is the American saloon, and the men who are engaged in the liquor traffic are not good and true citizens, and all the laws of the land cannot make them such. No man is a good citizen who takes his neighbors' money from him and returns no just equivalent. The American saloon is a curse and a disgrace to the nation, and the disgrace should be wiped out. God speed the day.

WELLSVILLE.

COLLECTING FOR CUBA

First Move to Help the People on the Island.

ONE BOX IS READY TO GO

W. H. Daughaday Has Started Well, and Is Meeting With Success -- Visitors In Town--All the Real News of Wellsville.

W. H. Daughaday has been the first to inaugurate a movement in Wellsville for practical aid for Cuba. Like most of our business men, he is a busy man, but as he takes his orders among his patrons for groceries he shows them the urgent appeal for aid for Cuba, published in the Epworth Herald, and asks for a contribution, which, when finally collected, will fill a large box, and will be forwarded to the Cuban Famine Relief committee, New York city.

It is expected that the first box will be filled and forwarded by tomorrow. Now let all who approve of his plan go and do likewise, as this is worth more than a thousand "God pity you's" for starving Cuba. There is no patent ever applied for on this method.

Another Pottery Project.

There is another pottery project on hand, and Liverpool parties are deeply interested in its consummation. It is understood that they have offered to build a four kiln plant for $12,500, and the plan is endorsed by a leading member of the board of trade. The matter will be considered officially in the near future.

The interested parties have plenty of money with which to operate the plant.

TONSILINE CURES SORE THROAT.

Read what a well-known Minister writes us about Tonsiline:

East Palestine, O., April 8, 1895.

The Tonsiline Co.:

I take pleasure in saying that we have used Tonsiline in the family for ulcerated sore throat, and it not only seemed to prevent the attack from being so severe as formerly, but cured the throat completely in a very few days. When any one of us has sore throat of any kind, the rush is for the Tonsiline bottle, and that is the last of it. It is certainly a most excellent remedy.

Yours very truly,

D. F. DICKSON.

The interment of the 11-year-old daughter of George Todd, Commerce street, will be at 9 o'clock tomorrow morning at Bethel church. The services will be held at the home this evening. The family have been through sore affliction. Seven members of the family have been ill with fever, but all recovered save this daughter.

The Endeavorers of the First Presbyterian church will hold a business meeting and social in the lecture room to night.

The gospel meetings of the Methodist Episcopal church continue with increasing interest. Many were turned from the doors last night after the card—standing room only—had been up some time. The services for tonight are especially, but not exclusively, for young people.

The funeral of Mrs. James Davidson, of Broadway, took place from the United Presbyterian church at 1:30 this afternoon.

At the annual meeting of the Vulcan Clay company there was no business of importance transacted, but an adjournment was had until Feb. 18.

Howard Noragon, of Cleveland, visited here yesterday.

Poor Director W. C. Fraser is attending the funeral of his sister, Mrs. Belle Hill, of Allegheny, Pa. Mrs. Thomas Stafford, Misses Kate and Jane McIntosh and Mrs. W. C. Fraser are also in attendance.

The dinner party of Mrs. Charles McGregor was a pronounced success. The receiving party were Mrs. Chas. McGregor, Miss Maud McGregor and Miss Elizabeth Ballard, of North Branch, Mich. There were about 45 ladies present. Miss Lou Owens won the first guessing prize and Miss M. M. Boyce the second.

The fancy work club meet with Mrs. Horace Conn tomorrow afternoon.

Mrs. W. G. Stevenson, Main street, will entertain her friends at cards and fancy work Wednesday afternoon.

Two young men from Wellsville went to Toronto yesterday, called by something to them so important that inclement weather and bad roads were no obstacle. They went on wheels, but their friends say it was a three wheeled cycle that will go on a track. It snowed, and rumor has it that on preparing to return the wheels refused to turn, and the boys, as they wearily trudged behind instead of mounted upon the wheels, constantly said to each other by way of encouragement, "It's a good thing, push it along."

On the River.

The river continues to fall, and the marks at this port this morning registered 12.6 feet. Considerable slush ice went down the river yesterday, but there as not enough of it to interfere with navigation.

Small coal shipments are still being made, and there are bright prospects for another rise before the end of the week.

AT THE USUAL TIME

Will the Spring Primaries be Held.

NO MEETING IS CALLED

For This Week, Nor Will It Be Until the Candidates Are in Line and Ready For Battle—The List Is Steadily Growing—An Unusual Feature.

It is not at all probable that a meeting of the Republican committee will be called for this week, although the primaries will be held at the appointed time.

Chairman Nellis said today that the committee was ready to meet at any time, and when the candidates were prepared the date for the primaries would be set and all preparations for the battle made. It is probable the election will be held about March 19, although there is a possibility that it will be the Saturday following.

Although a large number of candidates are in the field there has been to the present time very little interest shown. All candidates are working hard, and the politicians expect to see something in the way of a hard fight before it is over.

A feature that is attracting much attention is the lack of aspirants for seats in council. While everybody knows there will be four vacancies, none but those who are now in council have announced themselves for the position.

AFTER THE OFFICERS.

A Homestead Player Says the Liverpool Protest Was All Right.

Thomas Watkins, one of the officials of the Homestead Association Football team, after stating that the president of the league is unfit for the position he holds, has the following to say of Referee Martin:

"Without any prejudice against Mr. Martin, I am bound to state that in all league games refereed by him he has shown his incapability. I have only to mention the fact that in the cup tie, East Liverpool versus Homestead, at Homestead, Nov. 6, he called time and gave the game to Homestead when the ball was not in play.

"This game was protested by East Liverpool, and the protest, according to the rules, should have been sustained."

Mr. Watkins is one of the strongest supporters of the Homestead team, and was instrumental in having the protest of the Rovers thrown out.

CUT OFF THE LIST.

Township Trustees Are Making Some Changes.

The township trustees this morning began a weeding out process, and at least six of their regular patrons were cut from the list. There was a great deal of complaint, but the trustees informed the parties they would send them to the infirmary but would not keep them here. In every instance the patrons declined the offer and will endeavor to keep themselves.

The action of the trustees was taken because they found they were being imposed upon in a number of cases.

WORDS OF FLAME.

John Wesley Arraigues and Condemns the Liquor Curse.

Officials, members and pastors of the great Methodist Episcopal church, will read with interest the condemnation of the accursed liquor traffic, as voiced by John Wesley, the founder of their church. It has no uncertain sound. It has the ring of inspiration. Would to God that each and all of his followers would today adopt the same language against the accursed stuff, and carry the thought out in their lives and actions. Would to God that all other churches of the living God would see to it that just such hot anathemas and hot condemnation should be uttered against the body and soul destroying and crime inducing traffic. Every lover of the blessed Christ should read the words of flame of this disciple of God, a man who was very merciful and as gentle as a little child, but who found it difficult to find language to express his loathing for dealers in the drink concocted and dealt out to humanity by the devil and his minions. In his sermon on "The Use of Money," in the year 1760, Wesley used this language:

"Neither may we hurt our neighbor in his body; therefore, we may not sell anything which tends to impair health. Such is, eminently, all that liquid fire commonly called drams, or spirituous liquors. It is true these may have a place in medicine, although there would rarely be occasion for them, were it not for the unskillfulness of the practitioner; therefore, such as prepare and sell them only for this end may keep their conscience clear. But all who sell them in the common way to any that will buy are poisoners general. They murder His Majesty's subjects by wholesale, neither does their eye pity or spare. They drive them to hell like sheep; and what is their gain? Is it not the blood of these men? Who, then, would envy their large estates and sumptuous palaces? A curse is in the midst of them; the curse of God cleaves to the stones, the timber, the furniture of them. The curse of God is in their gardens, their walk, their groves, a fire that burns to the nethermost hell. Blood, blood is there, the foundation, the floor, the walls, the roof, are stained with blood! And canst thou hope, O thou man of blood! though thou art clothed in scarlet and fare sumptuously every day—canst thou hope to deliver down thy fields of blood to the third generation? Not so, for there is a God in heaven; therefore thy name shall soon be rooted out."

Only One Arrest.

DIED VERY SUDDENLY

Little Howard Fisher Passed Away This Morning.

ASKED TO BE LIFTED UP

And Before a Doctor Could Be Called He Was Dead—Had Been Ill For Some Time With Appendicitis, But Was Very Much Better Last Night.

Howard Fisher, the 12-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Fisher, died this morning at 8 o'clock at their home in Calcutta road from appendicitis.

The child had been in poor health for several months, but has not been seriously ill. Last night he was playing about the house and was in unusual good spirits, and seemed to be a great deal better than he had been for some time.

He was taken seriously ill this morning while lying in bed and asked to be raised up, but before a physician could be summoned he was dead.

The funeral will take place Wednesday morning at 11 o'clock from the house, Rev. O. D. McCullough officiating. Interment will be made at River-view.

Improving a Church.

The board of trustees of the First M. P. church at a recent meeting decided to improve the building to some extent, and yesterday sufficient money was raised.

A Little Delay In the Injunction Proceedings.

SHRADER HAS MANY BONDS

There Are Other Stockholders, Although E. D. Marshall and J. E. McDonald Presented Affidavits That They Were No Longer Interested—Filed in Lisbon.

Judge Smith did not grant an injunction Saturday afternoon restraining John Shrader from preventing Receiver G. H. Owen from taking possession of the bridge. Instead he postponed the hearing until Tuesday.

Attorney W. B. Hill, Mr. Owen, Mr. Shrader, Attorney Lones and E. D. Marshall appeared at Judge Smith's office in Wellsville at the appointed time, and the hearing commenced. Mr. Lones stated that the position of his client was plain. The bridge was not in Ohio, only a portion of it being under the jurisdiction of the court. The toll collected was largely earned in West Virginia, and therefore the receiver had no right to it.

Affidavits were presented from E. D. Marshall and J. E. McDonald showing that they were no longer stockholders in the company. Mr. Shrader showed that he held $100,000 of the bonds, and controlled the other $40,000, but it was not stated who owned them. He said he with the Pittsburg Trust company held one mortgage for $130,000 and another for $70,000. A copy of the second mortgage was presented.

Judge Smith decided to postpone the hearing until Tuesday in order that the receiver might modify the application, and including Shrader and the Trust company in the original petition, have it filed with Clerk McNutt for record.

The affairs of the company are gradually coming before the public. Shrader, it seems owns $85,000 of the stock, and the remainder is held by George P. Rust, of Cleveland; Prof. J. G. Kerry, of Montreal, and A. R. Mackall, of this place, each having $5,000. There has not been a reorganization of the company since J. E. McDonald, the president, and E. D. Marshall, secretary, lost their offices because they severed their connection with the institution.

HOW TO BALE COTTON

PRESENT METHOD WASTEFUL, A NEW ONE IS SOUGHT.

Consul Boyle at Liverpool Reports on the Matter—Cylindrical Bale Is Favored. English Importers and American Exporters Are Discussing the Question.

James Boyle, United States consul at Liverpool, has sent to the bureau of foreign commerce of the state department an exhaustive statement of cotton baling and cotton furs. No port in the world receives so much American cotton as Liverpool. The annual importations there for a number of years past have amounted to about $3,000,000. Just at present the American exporters of cotton and the English importers of that commodity are discussing the best methods of baling, and they are seeking to agree upon some improved method of doing this work.

Consul Boyle writes as follows upon this matter:

"Recently, on invitation of the European representative of the American Cotton company, which controls the cylindrical bale system, I inspected a shipment of cotton baled by it. The bales were received at the warehouse in perfect condition, and I learned that there was no loose cotton in the hold of the ship from these bales, nor was there a single case of 'no marks.' One of the most annoying features of the old system of baling is that the jute covering of a number of the bales becomes so torn that marks indicating the place of origin, the quality and the consignee are absolutely undecipherable. Sometimes the percentage of 'no marks' is as high as 5 per cent of the total cargo. Under the rule of the Liverpool cotton trade the 'no mark' bales are divided pro rata among the various consignees of the entire cargo. The loose cotton found in the hold of the ship and in the warehouse consequent upon the handling is also divided in this manner.

"As may be easily imagined, this system, while the best possible under the circumstances, is often very unsatisfactory, and especially so when cotton below sample is among the 'no mark' bales. It is noted here that the American manufacturers have started an agitation for an improvement in the baling of cotton, but it must be admitted that their grievance is a small one compared with that of the British cotton brokers and spinners. The coarse jute covering is nearly always torn, and in a large percentage of the bales one-third or one-half of the cotton is exposed, and many bales have the covering almost entirely off. Some of the bales are known as 'cauliflower heads,' because of their likeness to huge cauliflowers. There is an enormous loss both to the American shipper and to the British consignee through the present defective system of baling, as much of the cotton becomes loose, and a great deal of the outside of the bales gets damaged. Cotton brokers, spinners, insurance men and ship owners here all unite in declaring the urgent need of an improved system of baling. As to whether the cylindrical bale fully meets the requirements of the trade, I am not prepared to say. Certain it is, however, that the cylindrically baled cotton consigned to Liverpool arrived in perfect condition, there not only being no loose cotton, but not a single case of 'no marks.' "

Fire on board ship or at the dock is one of the most serious enemies of the cotton exporting trade. Mr. Boyle says that there have been some very damaging cotton fires at the Liverpool docks in times past, but the last two years have been peculiarly fortunate ones in this respect, no fire of real consequence having occurred. "One of the strangest claims put forward in behalf of the cylindrical bale," writes the consul, "is that it is much less likely to catch and hold fire than the old style American bale." Some tests have recently been made in Liverpool, and the results of them upheld this point.—Washington Post.

Man at His Word.

"Have a care, oh, my daughters," saith the wise woman, "how thou takest man at his word when he speaketh concerning himself! He glories in his strength and vaunteth it before his fellows and most of all before thee, but he would be handled as a fragile piece of bric-a-brac."—Womankind.

THEY FEAR BOMBARDMENT.

Why Atlantic City People Object to a Carrier Pigeon Loft.

Some of the residents of Atlantic City do not take kindly to the idea of having the national government establish an immense carrier pigeon loft there, in which to keep a stock of the birds for use in the naval service. The scheme of using carrier pigeons to bear messages between ships at sea and the shore is all well enough, but the Atlantic City people fear that if the central loft and training station is established there the city will be rendered more liable to bombardment by a foreign foe in case of war. This city is the largest and wealthiest of the seashore cities on the New Jersey coast, and it would not be pleasant to have the place blown out of the water for the sake of a few hundred pigeons.

That the government is in earnest in the matter is regarded as certain. Inspector Train of the Fourth lighthouse district was here a few days ago and selected a site on which the loft will be erected. It will be located on the lighthouse grounds, at Pacific and Rhode Island avenues, and the birds will be under the care of Keeper Bills and Assistant Keepers Adams and Henson. The buildings are to be erected at once, and the loft will be stocked with at least 500 of the best homing pigeons obtainable.

The birds will be principally useful in securing better co-operation between land and naval forces in time of war. Messages will be dispatched back and forth between the vessels and this place and the messages can be wired from here to any point without delay. This will save the time and trouble involved in sending a gunboat ashore with dispatches and will enable the land forces to be more quickly concentrated wherever needed.—New York Herald.

A LUCKY BRAKEMAN.

Coates Is the Hero of Several Wrecks and Never Lost a Limb.

Dora Coates, a brakeman on the Cincinnati division of the Big Four road, has in all probability had more narrow escapes in the railway service than any other living man who has himself all together. He has figured in a dozen or more wrecks and accidents, always being hurt, but although he has suffered broken bones he has never lost a limb. About a year ago he was in the middle of a freight that went through a bridge over Tanner's creek, east of Greensburg, Ind. Ten hoboes, who were in a car near him, were killed, and he escaped with slight injuries. A few weeks afterward he was knocked off his train by a bridge near Lawrenceburg, falling between the cars upon the ties of the bridge, and escaped with but few bones broken and other wounds of less serious nature.

Two months ago near the same bridge his train parted and ran together, piling up eight cars, with Coates in their midst, another miraculous escape with but a few bones broken. A few days ago he was walking the top of his train while running between Adams and St. Paul when a tramp threw a rock at him. He dodged, lost his balance and fell a distance into a small stream over which he was then passing. His head butted into the soft bottom near a large boulder, but he straightened himself up and walked out. His injuries were internal, however, but in a few days he will resume his dangerous duties. He was born on March 13, and four serious accidents have happened to him on that date. His friends and people warn him, but he laughs at the superstition.—St. Louis Republic.

FOR A PUBLIC PARK.

Mr. Dunn Wants to Borrow Governors Island For New York.

Elias B. Dunn, the weather forecaster, went to see Mayor Van Wyck of New York recently and talked to him about a plan to borrow Governors island from the United States government and use it as a public city park, leaving the fortifications intact, under an agreement to return the island if it is ever needed for military purposes.

Mr. Dunn says that Governors island could be used as a park, under the terms he proposes, without any cost to the city, the permits for little refreshment stands and merry go rounds bringing in enough money to pay for transportation back and forth. The grounds are laid out now, and no money would be needed for that purpose. If the island could be borrowed, $1,000,000 or $2,000,000 would be saved in the small parks fund.

Mayor Van Wyck was pleased with the idea. He is in favor of getting Governors island by purchase even.

The secretary of war, it is said, has declared that he would never consent to the giving up of the island, but Mr. Dunn thinks that he could be persuaded to change his mind. The headquarters of the department of the east, he thinks, could be changed to Fort Wadsworth or Schuylcr or Hamilton.—New York Tribune.

As an evidence of advancing civilization in Japan a correspondent notes the fact that they are getting used to glass. At first glass in a railway carriage window, it is said, had to be smeared with streaks of white paint to keep passengers from putting their heads through it.—New York Tribune.

OUT OF THE QUESTION

Is a Uniform Wage List East and West.

THAT IS WHAT TRENTON THINKS

The Delegates Who Were In This Place Have Not Encouraged Their Friends Since Returning Home—Some of the Reasons Given.

The Trenton correspondent of the Crookery Journal does not believe a uniform wage list is possible. It says: "It is now said by the returned delegates from the local potters' organizations, who went west to investigate the wage conditions and the differences existing, if any, that such a thing as a uniform wage rate is out of the question. The differences between the jiggermen of the two sections could not be reconciled short of a revolution, it is said. As an example, they say that the jiggerman in Trenton has probably 80 dozen molds to work off, and in all probability the shapes and sizes would amount to two or three dozen, with also that number of profiles to be looked after. In the west the jiggerman has a hundred dozen molds, all of one size, and when they begin to wear out he is not expected to sort out the damaged ones and to use the others, as he is required to do in the east. He throws out the whole hundred dozen and replaces them with the same number of new ones. It is said that western jiggermen have been known to have as many as 50 dozen wash-bowl molds to work with, and it is said that the more molds a man has the more satisfactorily he can work. The conclusion is that the conditions are so widely different that a uniform price would not be equitable."

SIGNED THE PETITION.

Wellsville People Want the Street Railway Extended.

Manager Hoefgen, of the street railway, has received a petition signed by a great many Wellsville people asking the extension of the line to the brick plants in the West End.

Mr. Hoefgen is considering the matter, but no announcement is made as to what will be done. If Wellsville gets the iron works it is probable the extension will be made at once.

Calis Them Frauds.

The agricultural experiment station officials have sent out two important warnings to farmers.

One says that a man giving the name of Haun is traveling through the country selling material for spraying fruits, claiming the endorsement of the state. The other is of a man named Essig, who is selling a recipe for the prevention of pear blight.

Farmers are warned against purchasing these things, and prosecuting attorneys are asked to arrest and prosecute the offenders.

Delayed by the Weather.

Workmen employed in the construction of the East End extension of the street railway have been delayed by the miserable weather and the line is not yet completed. It will be placed in operation as soon as possible.

The slips on the Wellsville road was a warning Manager Hoefgen did not disregard, and the force was taken from East End and sent there to clear ditches and do what was possible to prevent other slips.

In Society.

About 50 ladies were elegantly entertained at cards by Mrs. Ed. Carson at her home in Fourth street Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Stevenson, of Wellsville, will entertain Wednesday afternoon. A number of Liverpool ladies will be present.

Mrs. R. H. Hill entertained a number of lady friends Saturday.

Lisbon's New Daily.

The story is going the rounds that a number of Salem and Lisbon men are about to invest some of their money in an afternoon paper to be published at the county seat.

The paper will be Republican and will be edited by a Pittsburg man. It is not stated when the first number will appear.

AN EARLY ADJOURNMENT.

For This Reason House Leaders Will Hurry Through the Appropriations.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 31.—The house leaders intend to give appropriation bills the right of way as soon as possible in order to make an early adjournment possible. The moment the appropriation bills are out of the way the new rules will be brought in, and after that the contested elections cases and the bankruptcy bill will be brought forward.

AERIAL RAILWAY TO KLONDIKE.

One Now In Operation Which Shortens Part of the Trip.

TACOMA, Jan. 31.—Hugh C. Wallace, president of the Chilkoot Railroad and Transportation company, has advised of the completion of the company's aerial railway over the Chilkoot pass to Lake Linderman. This marks a new era for Klondike travel, as the time between tidewater and the headwaters of the Yukon river is shortened from a month to one day, besides removing the peril and hardships.

The company has made a contract with the Canadian government at 15 cents per pound for transporting all its freight for the mounted police from Dyea to Lake Linderman.

Demand of Millions Crazy.

DENVER, Jan. 31.—The crazy man who demanded $5,000,000 at the Colorado National bank has been identified as Charles Heyn, a sausage maker formerly employed by the Denver Packing company. Heyn's insanity was caused by the excessive use of liquor.

STRONG SYMPATHY FOR CUBA.

New York Senate Expected to Pass a Resolution Tonight.

ALBANY, Jan. 31.—In the senate the assembly Cuban resolution will be taken up tonight and unanimously passed.

It expresses sympathy with the cause of Cuba, denounces the atrocities committed by the Spanish troops upon the Cubans, and calls upon the national government to exercise its influence in behalf of peace by whatever means necessity may require, at the earliest moment, when its obligations other than those affecting Spain, will permit the termination of the struggle.

Woman Murdered Her Sister.

WOODSTOCK, N. B., Jan. 31.—Mrs. Canavan of the parish of Kent, becoming jealous of her sister, Minnie Tucker, purchased strychnine, steeped in a decoction of tea and gave it to her sister, who drank it and died. She has been arrested.

FIGHTING IN GREECE.

Greek Peasants Resist Collection of Taxes by a Turkish Force.

ATHENS, Jan. 31.—Seyfullah Pasha, with 2,000 soldiers and two guns, recently went to the village of Lazarina, near Trikala, to enforce the payment of taxes.

The peasants met the troops with a sustained fire and a regular engagement ensued. The next day the attack was renewed.

GOVERNOR OF FLORIDA.

Whatever the senate may have thought, it was apparent that the people at large approved the general's acts, judging from the receptions they gave him in Baltimore, Philadelphia and New York, to and through which cities he journeyed while awaiting the verdict of the legislators. In New York some unlucky individual chanced to remark, "General, some of our people up this way think you were rather severe in altering the court martial sentence of Ambrister and ordering him to be shot."

"Sir," responded Jackson, at once in a fury, "that matter is misunderstood. Under the same circumstances I would do the same thing again. They were spies, sir; they were spies. Their execution was necessary." Whatever Andrew Jackson may have done, he never expressed regret for it nor permitted any one else to criticize his doings. Some very healthy and lasting animosities date from this period, particularly those against Harrison and Clay. The latter, indeed, was most pronounced in his views of the Florida executions, saying: "No man can be executed in this country without two things being shown: First, that the law condemns him to death; second, that his death is pronounced by that tribunal which is authorized by the law to try him. I deny that any commander in chief in this country has this absolute power of life and death at his sole discretion. It is contrary to the genius of all our laws and institutions."

The commander in chief ever after held Henry Clay in detestation. His feelings at the time are indicated in a letter written ten days later to a friend in Nashville: "Inclosed you will find a piece addressed to the Hon. Henry Clay, which I wish you to have republished. You will see him skinned here, and I hope you will roast him in the west. The hypocrisy of Clay in pretending friendship for me and endeavoring to crush the executive through me makes me despise the villain. Clay is politically d—d, and I have exposed the correspondence with General Scott, and he is double d—d. It is fortunate I have come on here. Had I not, things would not have been as they are. Let Mrs. J. have a perusal of the inclosed as soon as they are reprinted in The Whig and The Clarion, for I wish both these papers to take up the subject warmly."

This was in 1819. In the spring of the following year the army was reduced, a measure which, as it left him without a command, he very bitterly denounced in a private letter, saying: "The government ought to be d—d. Instead of reducing the army in a republic like this it ought to be increased tenfold."

His rage was appeased by his appointment as governor of Florida, with a salary of $5,000 a year, and his farewell address to the army, though unusual and Jacksonian, was in the main consistently Jacksonian. By Mrs. Jackson and the "two Andys" he sailed for Pensacola, via New Orleans, and their reception at the latter city is set forth in the letters of his amiable spouse, who writes to a friend at home:

We were met at Natchez and conducted to this place. The house and furniture are so splendid I can't pretend to a description. The attention and honors paid to the general far exceed a recital by my pen. They conducted him to the grand theater. His box was decorated with elegant hangings. At his appearance the theater rang with loud acclamations, "Vive Jackson!" Songs of praise were sung by ladies, and in the midst they crowned him with a crown of laurel. The Lord hath promised his humble followers a crown that fadeth not away. The present one is already withered; the leaves are falling off. I have written this through the greatest bustle and confusion. The nobility have assembled to escort the general with a full band of martial music to review the troops. Oh, farewell! Pray for your sister in a heathen land, far from my people and church. Present me to all friends. I can scarcely hear for confusion. Yours with affection,

RACHEL JACKSON.

They both soon sickened of Pensacola, as Mrs. Jackson wrote:

There never was a man more disappointed than the general has been. In the first place, he has not the power to appoint one of his friends, which, I thought, was in part the reason of his coming. I shall not pretend to describe the fatigue, toil and trouble. Those Spaniards had as leave die as give up their country. He has had terrible scenes. The governor has been put in the calaboose, which is a terrible thing, really.

And it was really a terrible thing, for the ex-governor, who afterward protested to congress through his minister that the said "Governor Don Andrew Jackson, furious after having insulted the Spanish commissary with atrocious words, with turbulent and violent actions, with disjointed reasonings, blows on the table, his mouth foaming and possessed with the furies, answered that for his actions he was responsible to no other than to his government, and that it was of little importance to him whatever might be the result and that he (the Spanish ex-governor) might even protest before God himself if he wanted to."

Governor Don Andrew Jackson resigned his position and went home in November, 1821, to the vast relief of the administration, which, as Mr. J. Q. Adams remarked, dreaded the arrival of a mail from Florida, not knowing what General Jackson might do next and knowing well that whatever he might do the secretary of state [himself] would have to explain it away to the Spanish government.

When General Jackson returned home from Florida, he was so ill that he did not expect to live to see completed the new mansion at The Hermitage which he was then building. Some one protested against the site chosen as too level, when he replied: "No, Mrs. Jackson chose this spot, and she shall have her wish. I am going to build this house for her, for I don't expect to live in it myself." Yet, notwithstanding his feebleness from long exposure in the field and a constitution shattered by hard living, he survived his wife 20 years and more. He was then 54 years of age, and there is no doubt he sincerely desired to settle down for life, be it long or short, on his cherished acres. The Hermitage estate at that time comprised 1,000 acres, half in tillage and half forest. The house he built, while neither spacious nor elegant, was commodious and comfortable and was soon filled to overflowing with friends and relations, some of whom came to stay for months and others for a lifetime.

REINDEER FOR ALASKA.

General Eaton Advises Maintaining the Herds For Future Uses.

General John Eaton, who was once a United States commissioner of education and is at the present time the head of a large college in Salt Lake City, is just now interested in preserving the reindeer herds in Alaska.

"These herds," he said recently, "are depleted in this emergency by taking one portion north to save the 600 whalers in danger of starvation in the Arctic ocean. The remaining portion trained to the harness are in demand to take food to the imperiled miners. If these reindeer are not replaced in the several herds, there will be none with which to carry on the education of the natives in this new industry and none with which to meet demands of next winter, which, with the rush for gold, are likely to be greater than at present. Congress evidently should make the small appropriation necessary to keep up the herds and thus be prepared for future emergencies."

"In civilizing the natives of northern Alaska they must be trained in the reindeer industry, for in raising the deer, caring for them and training them to the harness they produce their food supply, their supply of clothing and their means of transportation, for the reindeer milk and meat are food; their skins and entrails furnish clothing, and their bones and horns are manufactured into implements, and they above all others are the animals for transportation there. When reindeer transportation is perfected, mails will be carried and news will be communicated as regularly as in northern Europe."—Philadelphia Press.

How He Stopped a Prayer.

Dr. R. F. Horton's reputation for courage will not be lessened by the story of a daring exploit he performed a few days ago. At a religious meeting which he was conducting in London a prayer of excessive length was being offered. He took advantage of a slight pause on the part of the person who was offering it to bring it to a sudden end by giving out a hymn, to the great annoyance of the prayerful one, who protested and left the room. Dr. Horton explained, however, that long prayers did not promote the usefulness of a devotional gathering.—London Chronicle.

All Methodists should read carefully the views of the great and good Wesley on the curse of intoxicants, and the duty of the members, officials and pastors of the church as directed against the damnable traffic. Read the article in today's issue.

Father Kress, of Cleveland, will speak in St. Aloysius church Wednesday evening on Mexico. Wednesday morning the candle mass will be observed and on Thursday the blessing of the throats.

The meeting at the Young Men's Christian association yesterday afternoon was well attended, several hundred people being present. The subject, "Where Are You Going," was discussed at length by Secretary Sully.

A Wheeling music concern is now making arrangements to open a store in this place. For some days they have had a representative in the city looking over the ground, and this morning he left for Wheeling to make his report.

An eastern firm with agencies throughout the United States recently asked of the managers to send to the home office a report of the amount of business done and money handled during the year of 1897. Yesterday the agent of the company in this city received a circular from his firm and found that the Cleveland office headed the list with East Liverpool second. This clearly demonstrates that this town is one of the best on the map.

WE will convince you that this is an ABSOLUTE FACT if you visit us and inspect our goods. You DO NOT WISH TO PAY $5.00 for a garment when we will give you the same garment, same quality and splendidly made, for $2.50, or just one-half the PRICE ASKED BY OTHER HOUSES. When any competitor tells you that this is all bosh, just price his goods, in any department, and then come over to the SURPRISE CLOTHING STORE and we will give you the same goods at just ONE-HALF of what he asked for his goods.
